EVENING OF BALLET PRESENTED IN RODEY

Most Interesting Program of Entire Season Rendered in Rodey Hall Friday Night Under Auspices of C. P. A.

The following is the account written in the Albuquerque Morning Journal of the successful program rendered Friday night in Rodey Hall:

Delightfully pretty, dainty, all too short, were some of the descriptions which characterized the final performance of the Little Theatre season at the Community Theatre Friday night. "An Evening of Ballet," given by Mrs. Edgar Knight and her pupils, proved to be a most charming and successful exhibition, wholly pleasing to the eye, and a promise of what may be done along the same lines in the future. The curtains parted at 8:15 to disclose a screen of brilliant sunny yellow, on which gorgeous macaws of blue, vermillion and yellow perched, amidst tropical foliage and flowers, with a huge dragon fly poised over a blue pool. Against this appeared a couch of moss on which a diminutive fairy lay. The other members of the miniature ballet tripped in, and in bewitching costumes of white and pink tulle, with rose wreaths in their hair, went through their pretty steps with all the grace of childhood and little awkwardnesses, which were all the more attractive. The ballet was applauded till the curtain was drawn back and an encore given. The little members were: Elizabeth Elder, Dorothy Strong, Sibyl McLandress, Jane Funing, Frances Stern, Elizabeth Graham, Dorothy Graham, Frances Wilson and Vivian Hendron. Mrs. Knight then danced the Vision of Salome. In a flame colored costume, which floated in colorful harmony with the background, her interpretation of this tragic theme was finished and exquisite. She was followed by Miss Virginia McLandress in a classic toe dance, which was as graceful and charming as the young dancer herself. Miss Ernestine Hunning, in a striking little costume of red and black, red bodice and black tulle ballet skirts, did a quick, pretty fan dance, which was most effective. Mrs. Knight then gave her witch's dance in a remarkably clever costume, with black and white tattered skirts and a huge and awful witch's hat (awful means awe inspiring here). The variety of steps of this accomplished danseuse was shown admirably in this interpretation, and she electrified the house by turning two complete and perfect cart-wheels across the stage, ending in what is known as the "splits," which, when gracefully done, simply furnishes another interesting if difficult figure.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK STAGED IN MAY

Annual Scholastic Track Meet to Be Held at the University May 7 and 8; Large Attendance Expected.

Oratorical and declamatory contests are to be held in connection with the state interscholastic track meet at the State University on May 7 and 8. Definite information as to the number of teams that will be entered is not yet available, but a large attendance is expected.

The preliminaries to the track meet and the declamatory contest will be held Friday, May 7. The meet proper and the oratorical contest will be held Saturday following, with the awarding of medals and trophies that evening.

Coach McGough of the department of physical training is now making a trip over the state representing the university, and giving talks on health subjects. He will come in touch with schools that are preparing to send teams to the meet also. Clovis, Portales, Roswell, Hagerman, Carlsbad, Deming and El Paso will be visited by him on his present trip. Other places will be visited later.

The declamatory contest is arranged for girls, the oratorical for boys. The javelin event is one that has not appeared on the interscholastic track program before this year. Following is the program and general information on the meet:

Friday, May 7.

9 a. m.—Meeting of coaches and contestants in gymnasium.

2 p. m.—Preliminaries in track and field events, University field.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL

Many down town people, as well as a large number of University students attended El Circulo Espanol, held last Tuesday night at Rodey Hall. The club was called to order by the president, Ralph Hernandez, and a short business meeting held. Mr. Hernandez then introduced Mr. Montoya of the board of regents and president of the Spanish Teachers' Association of New Mexico. Mr. Montoya gave an interesting talk, which was received with much enthusiasm. The following program was given:

La Vaquita de la Finajosa, Mr. Gilbert; song, "Juanita," Messrs. Bacon, Hayes and Scruggs; talk, "Inspection Rock," William Bacon; Entertaining Stories, Mr. Romero; recitation, Florence O'Hara; A Trip to Juarez, Dr. Harris; Humorous Story, Ralph Hernandez; "How to Keep Up Enthusiasm in the Spanish Club," Prof. X. Ibarra.

The program was followed by a social hour. Delicious refreshments were served.

BASEBALL SQUAD TO SOCORRO SATURDAY

Varsity to Meet Socorro Miners in Baseball Game Saturday Afternoon, and Available Dope Reveals Strength of Cherry and Silver Nine.

The first appearance of the Varsity baseball nine against any outside team will be made at Socorro next Saturday, April 24, when the School of Mines crosses bats with the Cherry and Silver. The team will leave Saturday morning, and no safe estimate can be made of the actual strength of the Varsity team until after the game. The weather has been of the most disagreeable type for the last several weeks, and baseball practice has been seriously handicapped by the high winds. There have not been enough men out for practice to get the best results, and those who have shown the true spirit by coming out have been playing under the difficulties of a bad diamond.

MAX NORDHAUS GIVES TALK FRIDAY

"The Executive in Modern Business" Was Subject of Interesting Speech; Dr. Clark Gives Resume of Trip to Arizona.

The second assembly of the Spring quarter was held Friday morning, April 16, at 11 o'clock in Rodey Hall, the speaker of the occasion being Mr. Max Nordhaus of the Chas. Ifield Co. of this city.

President Hill presided over the assembly, the program being opened with a splendid selection by the University orchestra. This was the initial appearance of the orchestra, and many favorable comments were made, and the hope expressed that more opportunities of hearing it would be offered. The president of the Student Body, Clyde Morris, was then called upon to make a few remarks, and asked Mr. Davenport to talk on the needs of baseball in the Varsity this spring. The main need of the baseball squad is more men and harder practice, and the earnest co-operation of all the students was asked for. The University can put out an excellent team if the individuals in school will only do their part, and an earnest endeavor will be made to interest all in the attempt.

After the collection of attendance slips, President Hill asked Dr. J. D. Clark to talk for a few minutes on his recent trip to the meeting of the Southwestern branch of the American Association for the Advancement of Science held at the University of Arizona. Dr. Clark announced that the southwestern organization was successfully organized, which marks a distinct step in the progress of this section of the country. However, he explained that he preferred to talk to the students on the matter of spirit as portrayed at the Universities of New Mexico and Arizona, and complimented the students of the former on the quality and amount of school spirit which they have shown this year. There is much to be done at the State University in the future, Dr. Clark stated, but a good start has been made and we should all strive the harder to put this university in the class where it belongs. While we are not doing all we can, yet we are doing pretty well and should feel gratified over the progress made this year in the development of a real school spirit, which already equals that shown elsewhere in the southwest.

Mr. Max Nordhaus, vice-president of the Chas. Ifield Co. of Albuquerque, was then introduced, the subject of his speech being "The Executive in Modern Business." In the consideration of the place which the modern executive should occupy in his concern, the speaker stated there

GOOD WORK.

The last program of the Community Playhouse Association has been rendered, and marks the successful end of a well-planned and conducted movement in the State University. To Miss E. A. Hickey, manager of the Association, too much credit cannot be given, and her work in the University will not be forgotten for many years. In fact, it is sincerely hoped that a Little Theatre building may some day stand as a splendid testimony of the work and achievements of the association and its leader during the present year.

More particularly do the people who have presented the programs and managed the season deserve credit on account of the tremendous difficulties they had to face. Miss Hickey was the founder of an entirely new movement in this school and town, and the success accomplished is due more to her efforts than to anyone else. The series of plays which have been presented this winter have been without an exception of the highest type, and some have been really remarkable. The first thing that had to be done in starting the movement on the hill was to enlist the support of the students and downtown people; while the former might have responded with greater avidity and celerity, yet it must be remembered that the idea of the whole thing was an entirely new one in this University, and it took some time to get everyone really interested. However, we feel that every student now recognizes how valuable such an organization is to the University in binding together the college and the downtown people, and we firmly believe that next year will see much more interest being taken in the movement, with a corresponding lightening of the load on the manager's shoulders. The Community Playhouse Association is an organization which has done much good this winter, and possesses possibilities of really accomplishing a tremendous amount of good results for the University and its friends. While The Weekly as a rule does not believe in getting personal, yet we do take the greatest pleasure in praising the work of the Manager of the C. P. A. as well as all those students and

12. One mile relay race between teams of four men, each man to run one-fourth mile.
13. Discus.
14. Javelin.

Number of Entries.

No high school shall enter a team of more than fourteen men, nor shall more than three men be entered for any event from any high school.

Rules for Track and Field Events.

The track meet shall be governed by the rules as prescribed in "Track, Relay and Cross-Country Rules of the National Collegiate Athletic Association" (Spalding's Athletic Library, Group VII, No. 362), with the following exceptions:

Relay Race.

A line shall be drawn ten yards on each side of the starting line of each relay, the space between these lines to be known as the starting zone. Within this zone each runner must touch the succeeding runner. No member of the relay team, in order to relieve his teammate, may run outside of this zone. The position of the teams shall be drawn for.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM.

The junior prom was all any junior prom could ever hope to be. About one hundred guests enjoyed the delightful hospitality of the junior class Friday night at the Masonic Temple. The University colors, cherry and silver, shaded the lights and cast a soft glow over the ballroom. In the center of the archway was a big U. N. M., and on either side hung cherry and silver streamers in graduated sizes.

The grand march was led by President and Mrs. Hill. Little Marion Williams, who wore the junior colors, pink and blue, and Jere Howard, who wore a purple graduation robe and silver college cap for the seniors, held the baskets of flowers.

Oblong programs, caught at either end by a silk cord, made a way for arranging the dances. On the first oblong card "Junior Prom" was written in gold; on the second, "Masonic Temple, April the Sixteenth."

The five-piece orchestra, which was a U. N. M. band, was one of the best and peppiest in Albuquerque. At 12 o'clock a delicious five-course dinner was served. Those who danced were Helen Darrow, Katherine Shotwell, Mayme Hart, Clyda Wilson, Blanche Guley, Elizabeth O'Hara, Eunice Latimore, Flora Chess, Mayme Mills, Wenonah Dixon, Margaret Shumaker, Anita Osuna, Helen Goetz, Edna Roy, Frances Bear, Belle Barton, Mary O'Laughlin, Lucille Makin, Anna Lee Duncan, Marjory McGinnis and Helen Thacker; the Messrs. Orange, Morris, Maston, Sharp, Wolkling, Gerhart, Fetzner, Boldt, Patton, Willey, Martin, Neher, R. Meyers, Kellam, Sedillo, Espensa, J. Meyers, Kiss, Paulson, Craig, Hernandez, Eldolt, Overstreet, Scruggs, Steed, Bruce, Caldwell, Short, Burney and Sampson; Mrs. Wittmeyer, Profs. Ibarra, Lukken, Prof. and Mrs. Williams, Bardsley and Clark. President and Mrs. Hill were chaperones.

PHI MU BENEFIT.

The Phi Mu Alumnae Association gave a large card party and dance Saturday at the Elks' Club for the benefit of the Phi Mu building fund. Fifty tables were reserved for the card party in the afternoon, and the Elks' lounge was an animated scene when the affair was in full swing. Miss Alma Baldrige was in charge of the tables and of the tea and sandwiches, which were served at the close of the afternoon. At 9:30 in the evening the dance began, and it is not yet known just how many people were there. More than 200 tickets were sold beforehand, and a six-piece orchestra lured many hesitating feet to the floor and inspired those already eager to step it lightly. Punch was served during the evening. Miss Grace Stortz and Miss Ruth Tompkins had charge of the dance arrangements. The proceeds from each affair will go towards the payment for the Sorority house on the hill.

If 25 instead of 21 Democrats had disobeyed Wilson, the treaty would have had the senate's "consent."

AN EVENING OF BALLET

PRESENTED IN RODEY

from which the dancer rose to her toes with the grace and ease of the ballet. Miss Marcella Matson appeared as a saucy Pierette, in white tulle ballet costume, with frivolous black pompons on the bouffante skirt and on the hat. Her dance was gay, pretty and delightfully impertinent, and done with spirit and a deal of stage presence. Miss Matson was followed by Miss Sydney Wilson, who assisted Mrs. Knight in the program. Miss Wilson made a striking entree in a beautiful Spanish costume of black and red, with red roses in her hair, and a tambourine in her hand. Her dance was done with the proper abandon and with grace and allure, and was enthusiastically encoored, as indeed were all the dances. Mrs. Knight's butterfly dance closed the program, and left a vision of exquisite daintiness and an impression of the palpitating tremor of the butterfly's wings, with its joyous sweep and flutter in the sunshine. Her costume, another of Miss Ethel Hickey's designs, was a lovely thing of yellow and orange tulle, shading to a velvet brown edge. The technique of the dancer was clearly exhibited in Friday night's performance.

To Miss Ethel Hickey, the organizer and inspiration of the Community Playhouse Association, is due congratulation upon her successful management of this season. The Little Theatre is launched, and requires only the support of the public to enable it to go ahead and produce better and better things. Miss Hickey has not only arranged the programs, but has designed and made scenery and costumes for many of the performances.

The musical accompaniment to the dancing was furnished by piano and violin, and for the "Vision of Salome," Mrs. Inez Westlake assisted with the sung verses, the low minor tones of which greatly enhanced the atmosphere and intensity of the dancer's interpretation.

There are three words, the sweetest words in all of human speech—more sweet than all the songs of birds, or pages poets preach. This life may be a vale of tears, a sad and dreary thing—three words, and trouble disappears, and birds begin to sing. Three words, and all the roses bloom, the sun begins to shine; three words will dissipate the gloom, and water turn to wine. Three words will cheer the saddest days—"I love you?" Wrong, by heck! it is another, sweeter phrase—it is "Enclosed find check."—Douglas Malloch in Hello.

Some politicians think the American people are going to decide the momentous political issues of the day by letting the "wet" and "dry" question determine the election. Not much! There are too many real big issues, and the American people are thinking chiefly of them.

VARSITY HAPPENINGS.

At a recent Freshman meeting it was decided to issue a Freshman edition of The Weekly. All Freshmen are urged to contribute and give their undivided support.

Fred Calkins, '15 student, was a visitor in Albuquerque last week. He is now located at Barton, N. M.

Ensign Bob Wigley, a former varsity student and All Southwestern football and basketball center, is in Albuquerque for a few days. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

From all indications overalls will become the official uniform of U. N. M. A very good idea providing the cost of overalls does not become prohibitive as a result of their sudden popularity.

The Kappa Delta Nu Sorority entertained for Alpha Chi Omega Saturday night at the K. D. N. House, 1700 East Central avenue.

Kappa Kappa Gamma will be at home to Alpha Delta April 21, from 6:30 to 7:30

Claude Mann, U. N. M. football star and captain of the 1919 team, was visiting friends in Albuquerque last week. Claude said he would be back at the varsity next fall.

G. J. Kiss, George Gentry and Clyde Morris are taking courses at the Business College.

James Swinney and William Collins were initiated into Alpha Delta Monday night.

were six factors with which the company was concerned and which must be taken into consideration. These six are the employer, the employee, the man from whom the goods are bought, the customer, the stockholder, and the public. The people of these various groups all represent more or less different interests and endeavors, and the task of the executive is to co-ordinate all their efforts into one harmonious whole.

The most amicable relations must exist between employer and employee if the business is to be made a success. Team work is the keynote of all enterprises, and was continually emphasized by Mr. Nordhaus throughout his speech. It is very easy to recognize the executive who can handle men best, but it is most difficult to discover the methods by which he works.

"Organization," the speaker stated, "is a science; management is an art." The primary need of the business executive is an insight into human nature, and this is something which is not learned in books in the schools, but only through practical experience. There should be no fear of the boss on the part of the employee, and the man with the smile wins. A tactful personality is to be preferred to excellent business quality, and where the two are united in one man, there will be found a business executive of the highest type. Diplomacy must always be used by all parties, and as for the compensation of help, the speaker characterized it as the most difficult problem of all. Plans innumerable might be named for a proper compensation of the employees, but if honesty and team work are the outstanding features of a firm's standard, there will be little trouble in the settling of the wage problem.

Mr. Nordhaus urged that the most amicable relations should exist between the business executive and the man from whom the goods are bought, since the salesman may be made a living advertisement of the company if the proper courtesy is extended him.

With regard to the fourth factor, namely, the customer, the business should be a model for trade, and employ only a sales force which will inspire the customer's confidence. A good system of accounting must be used by the firm so there may be no serious difficulties arising between the firm and the customers. "A satisfied customer is the greatest asset of a business," was the way the speaker summed up the general relations between the business and the purchasers.

The stockholder of the company is looking for dividends on his investment, and the business executive must watch the markets carefully in order that the best purchases for the money may be made. The aim of the company of today is not merely the dollar—there is more than that. To the public, service is the all important thing, and fair treatment should be employed by both sides. The most gratifying thing to business executives of many businesses today is the service which their companies have rendered, and the splendid organizations which have been built up, rather than the money earning capacity.

In concluding, the speaker emphasized the fact that a business executive must be surrounded by people of the highest ability, and it is his duty to co-ordinate their efforts so as to bring about the best results, both to the firm and its employees, and the general public. That organization will be the most successful which gives the widest range to the power of the individuals, thus making the business a human concern rather than a mere machine. There is a great difference between the leader and the driver, and that organization will be the most successful in which the impetus is given from within rather than without—the wise leader only gives a touch every now and then.

lack of sufficient material, as well as the weather. Nevertheless, those who have been watching the team report some splendid material among the new men out, and predict that the Varsity will astonish everyone in Saturday's game.

Gentry, as captain, is rapidly coming back into his old homerun stride of last year, and can be counted on for a safe hit a majority of the times when he comes to bat, and will probably hold down the center field Saturday.

Greenleaf will do the receiving, and with Boyd as pitcher it is safe to predict that the Miners will have quite a bit of difficulty connecting with the ball. Boyd has demonstrated his ability to put the ball across the plate with lots of speed, and with proper support in the infield and outfield will hold his opponents to a comparatively small number of runs. Mapes has been used some in the box and could be used in an emergency.

Holderness will make a good first baseman with a whole lot of practice, and Gerpheide will probably be called on to hold down the second base. Louis is quick in the field, and is a good, consistent hitter. Swinney and Albers have both been showing up well at shortstop, and Bramlett at third promises to stop anything coming his way somehow or other.

The outfield should be strong this year, with a number of first-class fielders coming out regularly. Whittier has shown singular ability to cover the left field, and is absolutely sure on anything coming through the air in his general direction. Wilfley, Gerhardt and Romero are able to cover the ground well, and are showing up better every day practice is held.

The men who have reported for practice this year have shown themselves to be better hitters on the whole than the team last spring, but are not quite so good as yet in covering the ground, and need practice in wholesale quantities. If the weather man gets into a better mood this week, a much greater improvement will be made between the first of the week and the Saturday's game than has been made in an equal length of time previous.
