President Boyd formally opens University of New Mexico

TWO NATIONAL FRATERNITIES MAKE DEBUT

Alpha, Alpha, Alpha, and Sigma Tau Granted Charters by National Fraternities.

STANDARD OF THE UNIVERSITY RAISED

One of the most noteworthy affairs to mark the opening of the University for 1915-16 is the debut of two national fraternities into University society.

The Alpha, Alpha, Alpha fraternity was granted a charter to Pi Kappa Alpha in the early part of May, just at the close of the college, while the Sigma Tau fraternity was granted a charter by the Sigma Chi, at the latter's national convention in Berkeley, Calif., on Aug. 6, 1915.

Alpha, Alpha, Alpha Obtains Charter.

To Dr. William G. Tight, the man who first installed the spirit of fraternalism in the University of New Mexico, does the Tri Alpha fraternity no doubt owe the fact that the realization of their dreams has come true, and that they are no longer known by their old familiar name as the Beta Delta chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha. From a mere handful of preparatory students who in the early days of the school gathered together to eat their lunches, or to "mooch" someone else's Dr. Tight formed the nucleus of this now most successful chapter. He conceived and carried out the idea of forming a Greek Letter Fraternity out of the poorly organized and rather uncertain Yum Yums and through his efforts this body of men were bound together on September 3, 1915, under the name of Alpha, Alpha, Alpha, the first fraternity to be organized in the University of New Mexico.

From this time on it became the greatest and deepest desire of the fraternity to some day be worthy of a charter from some great national body and toward this end all efforts were directed. All of the numerous achievements and honors which have been gained by this fraternity since its organization have no doubt been aided and inspired by this hope.

Alpha, Alpha, Alpha did not definitely seek admission into a great national body until a few years ago when she became convinced that no greater privilege could be had than to gain a charter from the Pi Kappa Alpha, and although a petition was not made at this time all possible efforts were made by the fraternity to bring themselves to notice in the eyes of this great organization.

Accordingly, on Feb. 5, 1915, the Tri Alpha Fraternity of the University of New Mexico petitioned the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity for admission into their great order. All possible influence was brought to bear, and a great many recommendations and letters were sent in on the behalf of the local organization, to say nothing of hum-

Immense Crowd Packs Rodey Hall

One of the largest audiences in the history of the University was on hand last Thursday morning to witness the formal opening of the present school year. Besides an excellent musical program, the audience was treated to a valuable talk on the subject of "Work" by President Boyd. There is unfortunately too little space in these columns to reproduce the whole address, but a few extracts follow:

"When it was decreed on the exit of Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden that the human race should earn its bread by the sweat of its brow, probably the representatives of the race construed that as a curse, and it has generally been so considered since. We have found out, however, that instead of being a curse, the Creator conferred on the race a distinction that was to separate it from all other objects of creation.

"The one who does not work is the one who permits himself, in the economic and social stress of our times, to follow the line of least resistance. He does not do much toward developing power within himself, he does not exercise will power to hold himself to a given task, and he exercises no choice whatever in the direction of his work.

"The college man who fails to work in life is probably the one who permitted himself to go through his course drifting along the line of least resistance. In a number of examples of conspicuous failures of college trained men I have invariably found that they were of this type of student in their college careers, and that the energetic, purposeful, active student invariably accomplished creditable success. This accounts for the fact that generally the student who earns his way through college is more apt to succeed and commend the results of his efforts to his fellow men than the one who was conspicuous for his learning and scholarship.

"Making his way requires a large part of his energy and time taken from what might have been given to furthering his college work; but that training to work in any line is more valuable for results in life's efforts than mere scholarship and learning.

"Work is not only a necessity of man's nature, but it is the basis of his happiness. Everyone is conscious of a pleasurable experience when he does anything well, even a trivial task. As one goes on and trains himself to do many and important things well, it fixes his attention, absorbs his mind, and he is unhappy except when engaged in his chosen work.

"It is the function of the State University to train young men and women to work. The courses that are given are merely tasks and problems set before the young mind to develop its power of concentration, reasoning and adjustment, its energy in holding itself at a task.

"It is the function of the teacher to set the task and assist the student in accomplishing his work. Unfortunately, many professors do not conceive this to be their duty. They have a conception that their only function is to promote scholarship, and feel that it is no part of their duty to stimulate the student to successful endeavor in his tasks, that it is their function to present knowledge and problems for securing the same, and that the student is to be perfectly free to exercise his own choice as to the extent which he will take hold of the work proposed. Where this occurs in an educational institution, there is ground for just criticism. The accomplishments of the courses laid down under charge of professors who teach with interest and enthusiasm will result in capacity for work and thus more practical training for life. This is the policy, I am sure, that animates my associates on the faculty of this institution. We all realize that the function of the university professor is first to teach; that scholarship is merely an important element in a qualification for that service. Here, my young friends, who expect to go into their classes this year, many of you for the first time, you are expected seriously and earnestly to take hold of your tasks, try to find an interest in them just as you expect to assume your duties as men and women in life with interest and energy. You will soon experience the joy of successful effort. You will soon be dissatisfied with mediocrity, incompleteness and inaccuracies. You will soon become your own most severe and yet most honest critic.

"In passing, let me say that it is unjust and narrow for the public to criticize a graduate of a college because he has not already learned a business or a trade. No lawyer, even after he has completed his course in a school of law, is considered trained until he goes into an office and learns the practice of law by practice. No doctor is admitted to full confidence of the public until he has actually learned and demonstrated to the public that he is capable. No teacher trained at the normal school or college is accepted without having the advantage of what is usually called experience. The best that can be said of any well developed college graduate is that he is in the finest manner trained to see, learn, and do his work well.

"May this year be one of definite progress and results. May we so work and so live that when we look back upon its opportunities and its work, we may be able to feel that it has been well done."

The Phi Mu sorority girls held open house on Tuesday of last week. After the severe strain of "registration," the students wound their way to the Phi Mu rooms, where the girls served punch and cakes.

NEW STUDENTS' RECEPTION MUCH ENJOYED

Old Students Extend Glad Hand to New Comers.

The annual reception to the new students, held Friday night in Rodey Hall, marked the formal opening of the social activities of the University. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion in silver and gray ribbons, which hung from all the windows, and formed a curtain between the stage and the hall.

Dr. Boyd delivered the address of welcome so effectively that every new comer was made to feel at home. One student was heard to remark that "after Prexy's speech I felt like a post graduate of the University."

Thanks to the every-ready and brilliant ideas of the "old reliable" committee in charge of the reception, a very effective manner of introduction prevailed during the evening. Everyone was tagged with their name, and the new students were permitted to talk and dance with the ladies without the usual formalities.

During the first part of the evening a program was rendered by University talent, and was very much enjoyed by all. The program was concluded by a number of lusty yells of the U. N. M. conducted by George Penny. The music was then started and dancing began. Those who did not dance were given other amusements. Several card tables had been previously placed on the stage, and these were well patronized by various members of masculine persuasion.

Punch and wafers were served during the evening. The punch proved to be excellent in quality, but somewhat lacking in quantity due to the large crowd and the warm evening.

Altogether the reception proved a delightful affair. Rodey hall was crowded with new students, old students and friends of the Varsity who were also invited to help entertain the new students.

The program of the evening was as follows:

Cornet Duet—"Somewhere a Voice is Calling" ..... Tate
CHARLES R. CLARKE, VIOTTI CROFT ..
Reading—Selected.....
MISS MARY BROERIN
Piano Solo—Valse in E..Moszkowski
PROF. E. SEDER
Reading.....JAMES K. POLK
Trombone Solo—Selected.....
PIETRO SENESIO

Ed Johnson, one of the old students, was painfully injured in a motor-bike accident one evening last week. Johnson was riding the machine at a good clip down the hill when he ran into a stretch of sand. The sand caused the wheels to slip, and the machine fell with him, breaking his left arm at the wrist. He was immediately taken to town, and the bone was set.

ATTENTION.

The Weekly's cartoon service will be resumed again this year.

We were fortunate enough to obtain the services of our old cartoonist, Mr. R. J. Ray. Mr. Ray did some splendid work last year, both for the Weekly and for the Annual; work on a par with any such work done by any other cartoonist in the Southwest. He is a man of exceptional ability, an asset and an honor to the University. Watch for his cartoon in the next issue. One of the numerous advantages of this cartoon service is that Preps and Freshmen can see the point in a picture without having to seriously exert their dwarfed and incompetent intellects in so doing—as they would be forced to do were these things conveyed in words which had to be read. Postmortem examinations, to say nothing of daily observation, have proven conclusively that the Freshman intellect is about on a par with that of a phylum Protozoa—hence the value of a news service which can be so easily assimilated.

WHAT TO EXPECT.

As editor of the Weekly for this year I wish all to understand from the issue of the primary number just what my policies will be, or in other words, just what you may expect of the Weekly.

As near as possible it will be made to represent the ideas, ideals, and aspirations (if there are any) as well as chronicle the acts, triumphs, and defeats of the student body of this University. The Weekly is the official organ of that body. Through this medium the ideas and acts of the students find expression and permanence. It is, therefore, my desire and duty to see that the paper does not fail to perform these required functions faithfully and along the old established lines.

But there are other matters sure to arise from time to time, and in these affairs the editor must choose his own position, and the present editor naturally reserves the right to act as he thinks best in any affair of moment that may arise. The editor will promise this, however, that petty squabbles, class bickerings, of fraternity squabbles shall at no time find space in this publication.

If at any time the editorial staff finds anything going wrong about this institution, or should we happen onto any dirt carefully covered, then expect us to point out what's wrong, to sweep off the dirt, to ferret out the guilty party, and to be very careful to mention names. Bear in mind, it will not be the policy of the staff to seek trouble, but if trouble comes our way we are going to do our best to stop the trouble. But should we, in our turn, be found to be in error at any time, we cheerfully announce ourselves willing to fight or apologize to the person, or persons, whose conduct we may have found occasion to criticize. Our course of action will depend altogether according to how large and husky he or she may be.

Our intentions are good. We intend to give you the best paper possible. We expect to improve with each edition. We ask your united support and co-operation. If you want to see your name in print, start something, get out and do something worth while, start something. If, on the other hand, you have anything worth printing, or even anything you would like to see in print—bring it around and we will try to oblige you, in fact we will be glad to.

One last word before I drop the role of a human being and become an editor. If you don't like the Weekly, or if you have any criticisms to make about it, be kind enough to come and tell us all about it to our faces, because our backs are sure to ache anyway.

NOTICE.

All Coyotes, Alumni, and Oner Members.

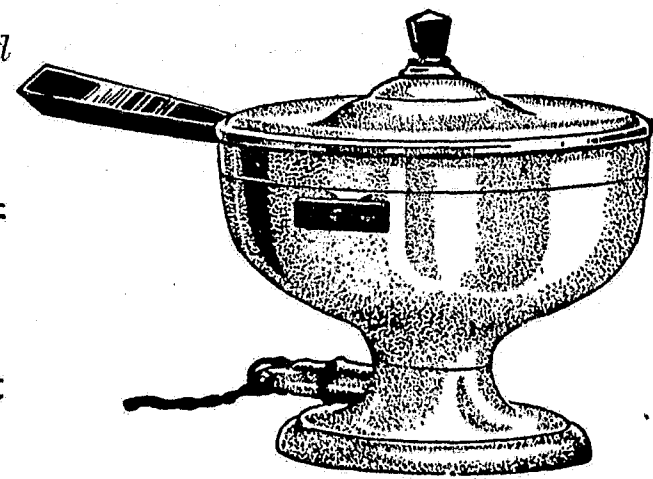

Hold yourselves in readiness to answer the call. We have a great work to accomplish at our first meeting. Never before in the history of the club has there been such quantity of promising material. Never before have your services been needed as they are now needed. Prepare for an all night session on almost any night this week or next. Word will be passed out as to the exact date of the union.

H. O. FULLERTON, Pres.

Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy. Miss Parsons thinks it would be a good thing for a number of the new students to take this hint.

LOCALS

Saturday afternoon Miss Kathleen Long entertained a number of her friends at an informal sewing party.

Professor Weese was ill Friday, and consequently unable to meet his classes on that date.

Robt. Barnes arrived Saturday from Indiana. He came back to enroll as a student again this year.

H. O. Fullerton spent a few days of last week at his home in Santa Fe. He returned Sunday evening.

Clifford Wolking is thinking seriously of starting a motorcycle jitney service between First street and the University. Look out, Tony.

Mr. Lee Toothaker, of Westmoreland, Kansas, a brother of Rev. Archie Toothaker of the Congregational church, is one of the new students.

Joseph Eldodt, another one of the old students, returned Friday. If you tell anyone, whisper it: Joe says he has learned to play the mandolin.

Miss Lorene Severns, a graduate of last years normal class, has accepted a position as teacher in one of the public schools of Belen, N. M.

Miss Myrl Hope gave a slumber party at her home Friday night after the Freshman reception. The guests enjoyed a delightful time, minus the slumber.

Ed Doran, a graduate of the University, will leave about the first of September to teach the commercial department in the high school at Fort Scott, Kansas.

It is with sincere regret that we announce the death of Edward Gallagher, a former student of the U. N. M. Mr. Gallagher died at his home in Brooklyn, New York, on the 11th of May last.

Miss Margaret Gleason, head of the department of Home Economics, has brought back with her a niece, Miss Margaret Cook, who will be a student at the U. N. M. this year. That's what we call real boosting.

George Ade, the famous slang writer and humorist, was in town the other day, and stated himself as pleased with the outlook for the new Sigma Chi fraternity. We wonder if he is in his usual frame of mind, or does he really mean it this time.

Mr. Paul Dieckmann, a member of the junior class of last year, represented the local chapter at the Pi Kappa Alpha convention in San Francisco this summer, and has now entered Berkeley where he will complete his college course.

A telephone has been placed in each of the dormitories so that we now have complete and comprehensive connection with the outside world. Efforts were made to have telephone connections installed last year, but nothing was done about the matter.

The Hopi Indians will pull off their annual snake dance soon. Although we have never had the pleasure of seeing a snake dance by those red men, we venture to believe that such a dance would look like a shot of brandy at a German beer bust beside a real genuine Varsity performance.

Five chaperones have already engaged rooms at Hokona, and two more are reported to be on their way. This must be in anticipation of there being a lively bunch of girls. One of the chaperones wants to take shop work. It will, of course, be necessary for her to wear overalls.

It has been reported that Penny, a Pi Kappa Alpha, will not be with us this year. He intends to continue to act in his summer capacity as bell hop at the Alvarado. James Polk, by the way, reports quite a number of startling experiences while holding a similar position last summer.

SIGMA TAUS ENTERTAIN

The Sigma Tau fraternity, together with their pledges, entertained the members and pledges of the Phi Mu sorority, Thursday evening, at the fraternity house.

Judge and Mrs. Howard Ferris of New York and Dr. and Mrs. William Ricks of Columbia, Tenn., were the special guests. The men are prominent Sigma Chis and were on their way home from the Sigma Chi convention held recently at Berkeley.

Last Saturday night the Sigma Taus gave a smoker at the house, for the pledges and a number of guests.

SIGMA TAU BANQUET.

The Sigma Tau fraternity held a series of entertainments the past week, having as their guests various prominent men of the Sigma Chi fraternity, to which the Sigma Tau was recently admitted.

On Wednesday night Mr. William V. Brothers and Mr. Miles Hall of Chicago were the guests of the Sigma Taus at banquet served in Taft hall, at the Alvarado. All active members of Sigma Tau were present, as were also the pledges.

DR. BOYD OFF TO ATTEND N. E. A. CONVENTION

President David R. Boyd left early Saturday morning for San Francisco ciation. He will also represent the University at the meeting of the National Association of State Universities. On which occasion he, as well as the other university presidents, will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler at Berkeley, Calif.

From there Dr. Boyd will attend the meeting of the National Irrigation Association at San Francisco, Fresno and other points. He expects to be back in about three weeks.
