NEW MEXICO INTER-SCHOLASTIC ATHLETES SHATTER TEN STATE RECORDS IN MEET

THIRD INTER-SCHOLASTIC TRACK AND FIELD MEET, INCLUDING STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP MEET, COMPLETE SUCCESS—MORE THAN HUNDRED ATHLETES VISIT UNIVERSITY, AS GUESTS OF INSTITUTION—ALBUQUERQUE HIGH SCHOOL WINS BASKETBALL AND TRACK CUPS, AND ROSWELL THE RELAY RACE TROPHY—SMAULDING OF THE ALBUQUERQUE HIGH SCHOOL, INDIVIDUAL POINT WINNER.

New Mexico high school athletes shattered ten state records, the Albuquerque team won the basketball and track cups, and Roswell the relay race trophy, in the third interscholastic track meet held on the Varsity field April 27, 28 and 29.

Although handicapped by a stiff wind the high school athletes Saturday afternoon in the finals broke every record with the exception of that of the hop, step and jump and the shot put. Albuquerque High won the meet with a total of 57 points; Roswell took the relay race and captured second place, with 44 points; Alamogordo third, with 14; and Santa Fe last, with 5. Tucumcari, in a hotly contested game with Albuquerque, lost the state basketball title to the latter team by a 33 to 27 score.

Johnson was Roswell's best man, taking first place in the 440 and 880-yard event and second place in the mile run. Smauldung took five first places, two seconds and one third, which gave him first place in individual point winning.

Albuquerque qualified for twenty-five places in the finals; Roswell, twenty-one; Alamogordo, ten; Santa Fe, seven; and Belen, one; in the preliminaries held Friday afternoon. The local High's qualifying for the majority of places gave them a decided advantage for the Saturday meet but Roswell led almost from the start. However, they had no men to place in the jump events which gave Albuquerque for the most part the lead with which they won the meet.

In the record smashing Smauldung of the local High lowered the 100-yard dash time (in the preliminaries, Friday) from 10 3-5 to 10 1-5 seconds, the 120-yard high hurdles from 18 2-5 to 17 3-5 seconds, raised the pole vault height from 10 feet to 10 feet 2 3-4 inches, and shortened the time of the 220-yard dash from 24 3-5 to 23 3-5 seconds. Roswell's distance man, Johnson, lowered the 440-yard record from 57 1-5 to 56 seconds flat, and the half mile time from 2 minutes 15 3-5 seconds to 2 minutes 12 seconds.

Wohlenberg, of Alamogordo, jumped 7 3-4 inches, bettering the old height of 5 feet 4 1-2 inches. Kremis of the local High took the mile run in 5 minutes 12 seconds against the old time of 5 minutes 17 4-5 seconds. In the running broad jump Calkins of the same school lengthened the broad jump distance from 19 feet 10 4-5 inches to 21 feet 1-2 inch. McConnel of the Pecos valley team ran the 220-yard high hurdles in 27 4-5 seconds against the old time of 28 2-5 seconds.

A banquet was given at the Varsity dining hall Saturday evening to the visiting athletes, who there broke training and enjoyed a good feed. Mr.

Weese and Carl Brorein told the visitors the attitude of the Varsity and the students toward them and the meet. The different coaches and captains expressed their favorable opinion of the meet and of the Varsity's treatment as host. All teams expressed the intention of returning to next year's meet. The medals and cups were then awarded. Albuquerque has

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BOWS TO UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO IN HOTLY CONTESTED FORINSIC EXHIBITION OVER QUESTION OF TRUST REGULATION BY FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION—VISITORS SHOW MANY EVIDENCES OF SPLENDID TRAINING, BUT ARE UNABLE TO OVERCOME CLEAR AND STRONG ARGUMENTS OFFERED BY VARSITY DEBATERS.

The University of New Mexico on April 25 celebrated the last and most important debate of the 1916 debating season by winning an affirmative decision from the University of Southern California, on the question: "Resolved, That the Federal Trade Commission Should be Empowered to Regulate Trusts and Monopolies as the Interstate Commerce Commis-ercises opened with several excellently rendered selections by the High School orchestra, following by a vocal solo, "Spring Is Here," by Miss Hortense Switzer.

Pryor B. Timmons opened for the affirmative with a carefully prepared address in which he made clear to the audience the meaning and importance of the various terms involved in the question. He also explained the relationship between the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Federal Trade Commission, and pointed out specifically their points of difference. He defined a "trust" and a "monopoly," and pointed out the advantages of large scale production. He contended that the present Federal Trade Commission has failed to meet the present situation, because it does not possess the power to fix prices on the various commodities handled by the trusts and monopolies. He, however, proposed regulation as the only solution, and contended that the Federal Trade Commission would be a success when the several additional powers of the Interstate Trade Commission were added to the present powers, just as the Interstate Commerce Commission is a success in every sense of the word. Timmons quoted many prominent authorities to support this statement, and succeeded in leaving a clear impression with the audience that he had broken well the ground for the further presentation of the question.

Gregory Creutz, for the California team, in a very able address, took his definition for a "trust" and a "monopoly" from the dictionary, but conceded that the definition given by his opponent was valid, and further limited the question. He explained to the judges that there are several kinds of monopolies, and that in the debate of that evening the debaters would necessarily deal only with that class of monopolies styled as "artificial." He conceded the point made by Timmons that the Interstate Commerce Commission is a success, but argued that the two commissions differ widely in that, whereas, the Interstate Commerce Commission regulates only a few hundred corporations handling a limited number of commodities, the Federal Trade Commission, if the additional powers were granted, would be burdened with the responsibility of regulating several hundred thousand trusts and monopolies handling every article upon the American market today, and articles whose price varied daily. The Californian declared that price fixing is unscientific, dangerous and impractical, and that a commission of five men would find it impossible to fix prices for these infinitely numerous permanent possession of the basketball cup and will retain the meet trophy until they either lose or win it again next season. Roswell will keep the relay race cup permanently.

The meet was a success. Many of the teams that failed to place showed a lack of training and out-of-school competition. Each team now realizes that hard practice is a great deal more than half the battle. Each has gained valuable experience and will come back next year fully prepared to give the best they have in them.

The results of the finals follow:
110-yard dash—Smauldung, A. H. S., won; Reed, R. H. S., second; Pence, A. H. S., third. Time, 10 2-5 seconds (made by Smauldung in Friday's preliminary in 10 1-5 seconds).

880-yard dash—Johnson, R. H. S., won; Slaughter, Santa Fe, second; Wheeler, R. H. S., third. Time, 2 minutes, 12 seconds.

sion is empowered to Regulate Railroads."

Mr. Harold C. Morton and Mr. Gregory W. Creutz of the University of Southern California Law School, spoke well, and put up an excellent fight but were unable to overcome the clear and strong arguments offered by Carl D. Brorein and Pryor B. Timmons, who spoke for the Varsity.

The judges rendering the decision on the debate were John Simms, T. J. Mabry and Geo. Taylor. The judges were not allowed to hold a conference but were required to sit in different parts of the hall, and submit their votes without any consultation with each other. Prof. Giltner of the High School acted as chairman.

The musical program, under the direction of E. Stanley Seder, was fully up to the high standard maintained by him at all times. The ex-

THE SWAN SONG OF THE 1915-16 WEEKLY.

"The end crowns all, and that old common arbitrator, time, will one day end it."—Shakespeare.

Running a bank, taking a jaunt up into the arctic, serving time in one of those places where they stop you if you try to get out, and directing the policies of a college weekly, have all one thing in common. That is that sooner or later, there must be an end. There is an end to the 1915-16 Weekly. The 1915-16 Weekly is through.

It is with no false feelings of deep sorrow, keen regret and the like, that we at length lay down the oars. We are through, and what is more, we are glad of it.

But with joyful sense of freedom at release from the more or less burdensome responsibilities of our post, there assail us small compunctions, slight pricklings of the conscience, when we look back upon the year: "We have done those things which we ought not to have done, and we have left undone those things which we ought to have done," and we wonder whether we have given the best of us to the work which has so long been ours.

In its attitude toward and treatment of the questions that have emerged from out the dead level of complacency and self-content, the Weekly has endeavored always to be fair. Mistakes have been made, some of them serious, some of them not. For these, large and small, we are sincerely sorry. But in honest recognition of our faults we find consolation in the words of Mr. Wayland: "The only people who make no mistakes are dead people. I saw a man last week who has not made a mistake in four thousand years. He was a mummy in the Egyptian department of the British museum."

Whatever stand we may have taken has been taken honestly, and we have borne in mind always that the editorial chair is no place for the wabblers. "Newspapers must take sides. There can be no such thing as a neutral newspaper. Every other man in the community may conceal his opinion, and even his action behind the screen of the voting booth, but the editor must come out and take a side."

And, so, pursuing this policy, antagonisms have been aroused, resentments incurred. We are sorry, and then again we are glad. It will be a dismal day indeed for the U. N. M. when everyone comes to think alike. Healthful difference of opinion is good. It is what keeps the blood circulating in the student body. Independent thought and judgment unconstrained are great and desirable qualities. They are to be encouraged. We may all, however divergent be our views, say truthfully with Stevenson: "Other men may be right; but so, before heaven, are we." Or we may, if we choose, say with Rousseau: "If I am not better than other men, at least I am different."

And so we retire as gracefully as may be into the oblivion shared by some eighteen other Weekly volumes of years gone by. Much there is that must be done. The Weekly MUST be improved. The scheme of things, social and otherwise, must be re-established. Traditions must be founded. Therefore, to the incoming editor, we relinquish the reins of office, gladly, fearlessly, knowing full well that he will manfully carry on the work that remains to be done.

Ed King will be the other member of the party part of the way at least.

SOCIETY

THE JUNIOR PROM. A REAL SOCIAL EVENT

The most important social event of last week was the Junior Prom, staged in Rodey Hall Wednesday evening.

A fair crowd of Varsity people, including students and faculty members, were the guests of the Juniors for the evening, and Rodey Hall looked its best, decorated from one end to the other with the colors of the class. The music was excellent, the floor in fine condition, and a huge time was enjoyed by all who attended.

articles put out by several hundred thousand trusts. He cited the Sherman law in its revised form as a success, if enforced, and declared that there was no need for a revision of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

Carl D. Brorein, the second speaker for the affirmative, amplified the contentions of his colleague, and advocated the plan implied by the question itself. He declared that monopolies were a natural birthright of the American nation, and that they have been present in all nations from the most remote periods of antiquity. He further argued that regulated monopoly was one of the most useful instruments to national and industrial progress, but that unregulated monopoly always had a disastrous effect. He then proposed the affirmative plan as the most practical and efficient solution of the trust evils.

Harold C. Morton, for the California team, emphasized the arguments of his colleague, Mr. Creutz, and further explained how the trusts kill competition by lowering prices; and that all trusts were not wholly bad; but that the negative proposed to break up the bad trusts and regulate the good trusts by means of the Sherman law, which he contended would accomplish this, if enforced. He made the further statement that "right is right, whether enforced or not."

It was, however, the strong, clear and vigorous rebuttal of the affirmative team that won the decision for the New Mexicans. The debate seemed to hinge upon the point as to the feasibility of the Federal Trade Commission regulating prices. Brorein clinched the argument when he brought fourth, in the last rebuttal, the evidence that there would be some four hundred trusts reporting to the Federal Trade Commission, and not the two hundred thousand, as contended by the gentlemen of the negative.

The favorable decision of the judges was soon announced, and the audience broke into enthusiastic applause for the winning team.

COMMENCEMENT CONCERT TO BE MUSICAL TREAT

The commencement concert by the University department of music will be given Monday evening, May 8, at Rodey Hall. A splendid program has been arranged, including several numbers which have not been heard before in Albuquerque.

Among those assisting the University in this concert are Mrs. J. O. Schwentker, soprano, who will sing two modern song gems; Miss Mary Brorein, who will recite the melodrama "Miantowona," accompanied by Mr. Seder at the piano. The poem is a version of an Indian legend by Thomas Bailey Aldrich, with music by Mokrejs. Robert T. Sewell, baritone, will give an operatic aria, and El Leroy Yott will be heard in several violin numbers. E. Stanley Seder, director of the music department, will be heard in piano numbers.

The program is as follows:

At the baccalaureate sermon, the University Brass quartet will play the processional march. A setting of the Lord's prayer by E. Stanley Seder recently published by the Gray company of New York, will be sung for the first time in this city by a solo quartet consisting of Mrs. J. O. Schwentker, Miss Louise Thorn, Mr. Seder and Robert T. Sewell. This quartet will also sing an unaccompanied number, "God is a Spirit," by Sterndale-Bennett. The University Choral club will render "Hosanna," by Granier.

The commencement program at 10 o'clock May 10th, will open with a march played by the Brass quartet. The University Male quartet will sing "The Coppah Moon," by Shelley, and the other musical number will be a duet by Miss Louise Thorn and Mr. Seder, "Venice," by Victor Harris.

The board of regents held an all day session Monday in the president's office.

Prof. Worcester delivered the commencement address at the Rio Grande Industrial School Wednesday morning.

Williams, a Sigma Chi from Salt Lake City, Utah, visited the chapter of the U. N. M. Sunday and Monday.

Great numbers of town people and students have been visiting the Phillips art exhibit the past week at the Country Club.

Miss Katherine Johnson enjoyed a few days' visit from her mother and brother Roderic of Roswell. Roderic came up with the Roswell track team.

Frank Guoin left Sunday for Madrid followed Tuesday morning by Dr. Kirk and Herbert Shelton. They will spend several days around the Madrid coal fields doing some topography mapping.

Some of the latest fraternity pledges are Larry Vauchet, Sigma Chi; Joe Hamilton, Carlton Clark, Frank Steed, Alpha Delta.

Prof. Worcester entertained at luncheon Wednesday of last week at the Country Club. The guests included his introduction to philosophy class and Prof. and Mrs. Sherwin and Mr. Bert Phillips.

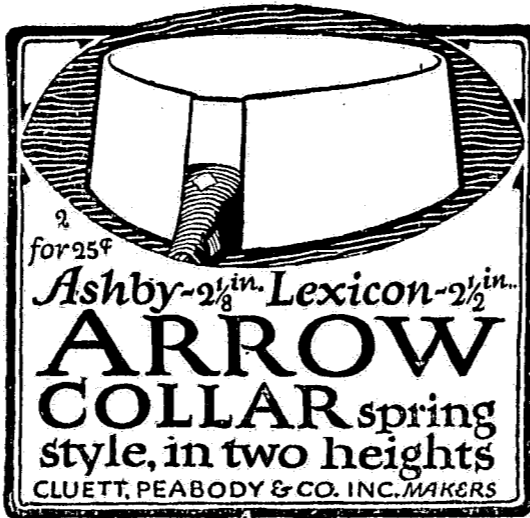

Several from the Varsity attended the Indian celebration at San Felipe Monday.

George Threlkeld of the senior class has been teaching in the High School for the past two weeks, during the illness of one of the teachers.

Dr. Kirk returned from a trip into the southern part of the state last week. He also spent some time across the border in Old Mexico for the sake of excitement.

Miss Helen James Honored.

The many friends and Varsity chums were pleased to learn that Miss Helen James, '14, Phi Mu, had won the scholarship in English in the University of Illinois over about a hundred applicants for that position. While a student at the University Miss James took a most active part in all the Varsity activities, was an exceptionally good athlete, and probably one of the best if not the best actress that has ever attended the institution. For the past two years she has been teaching in the Santa Rosa high school, but now expects to spend a year in the University of Illinois studying for her Master degree.

Varsity Baseball Team Wallops Red Skins in Fourth Game of Season

The Varsity nine won its fourth consecutive game 7 to 5 Saturday morning with the Indians before a attendance of interscholastics at the diamond.

The Varsity and Red Skin nines faced for the fourth time Saturday morning with new pitchers twirling for both teams. The high wind that was blowing made the flies hard to handle and the game slow. Spencer took the mound for the Indians and Goodman mounted the rubber for Varsity. Seven hits were made off both pitchers but the hill team succeeded in getting more men over the home pan. Spencer had his batters guessing for awhile but the Varsity men "got onto his stuff" in the fourth inning and pulled in two more in the seventh, which, with one made in the second period, brought the total up to seven.

The Redskins started scoring in the first inning and made two runs then. The Varsity nine tightened up then until the last period when the Redskins slipped across their last three runs which made their total five. Platero caught for the Indians and Nohl received for the Varsity.

MENTAL DISSIPATION.

College life has been accused of being dissipated in the sense of excessive pursuit of pleasure, but dissipation has another meaning, and that meaning implies a scattering, a wasting or frittering away, and it is against this kind of dissipation, mental dissipation, that the college students should be on guard.

A man cannot scatter his energies on four clubs, three athletic teams, a debating society and two student publications and expect to do good work for any one of the organizations noted. To put it another way: If a college man is president of one club, secretary of two others, a member of ten organizations and a committeeman or officer in each, that college man may be a campus leader, and an efficient one at that, but he slights something somewhere. It may not be his scholastic work, and then again it may be. What ever it is, it is there.
