LOWELL SOCIETY AWARDS KEYS. THREE ARE GIVEN

Wilkenson, Caldwell, and Hickman Receive Distinction.
Bryan Awarded Certificate of Merit.

Last Saturday noon, the last meeting of the Lowell Literary Society for this year was held in the Administration building for the primary purpose of deciding as to who would be the recipients of honors in debating and oratory. After some discussion, it was moved that all persons who had received certificates of merit in debating last year, 1921, and all who had participated in at least two regular college debates this year, should receive debating keys, and that all persons who had won a place, first or second, in the State Oratorical and Declamatory Contests should be given an oratory key. The motion was passed. As a result Charles Caldwell and Kenneth Wilkenson will receive debating keys and Roy Hickman will be presented with a key for oratory. The society also recommended to the student council that George Bryan should be awarded a certificate of merit for his excellent work as manager of debate.

Hereafter, debating keys will be given only to persons who have taken part in two regular college debates each year, and consequently the key will be an honor well worth having. While this year could hardly be called successful as far as actual debates were concerned there is a strong foundation to work upon during the coming year.

VARSITY SHOP PRESENTS CUSTOMERS WITH GIFTS

"Hum-m, lemon flavored." "Ours is just alike." "O-oooo Jack! You're the sweetest boy!" These and other ejaculations greeted the sample boxes of Colgate's cosmetics presented to each customer of the Varsity Shop during the past week.

The men's boxes contained a small tube of rapid shaving cream and a bottle of lilac toilet water. The boxes distributed among the women contained a box of face powder, toilet water, and tooth paste.

DEAN MITCHELL MAKES TOUR OF HIGH SCHOOLS

Dean L. B. Mitchell, just back from a tour of the state in the interests of the summer session of the university reports that prospects for a large enrollment are good.

Dean Mitchell gave lectures at various high schools, where possible, and conferred with superintendents and teachers at others. Schools in the southern part of the state had already closed their term and his trip did not include this district.

U. SWATSMEN VICTORS OVER FAST R-K NINE

Game Cinched by Jones's Single
In Last Half of the Ninth; Tied Scores Add Thrills.

In a tensely exciting, close fought game, the Varsity nine nosed out the Kiwanis-Rotary sluggers Wednesday afternoon eight to seven. The contest was ideal from the spectators' point of view with the two teams continually tied. Hitting was clean and few errors were registered by either team.

First blood went to the U. in the initial session, when Horgan on second, Greenleaf connected with a fast one for a clean single. In the next period, however, the K-R swatsmen connected for a couple of clean hits aided by an error by Dow and scored one.

In the fifth inning with the score four all, Rhea, the K-R moundsman weakened, allowing the Varsity to bunch hits for three tallies. Not dismayed by this, in the beginning of the sixth frame, the Clubmen tied the score again, when Chas. Lembke, ex-Varsity satellite, boosted a clean one over the right field fence scoring two men ahead of him.

In the last half of the ninth, with the score still tied, Cartwright singled, but was forced out by Dow. Jones the next man up, cracked the first ball over for a Texas leaguer down the right field foul line scoring Dow.

For the U, the work of Bryan and Horgan in the infield was exceptional considering the short period of training. Horgan accepted six chances without an error. Jones starred in leftagarden and at the bat. Johnson failed to connect, as advertised, in five trips to the plate. Cartwright pitched a steady game at all times.

The R-K team presented an impregnable infield, with Donaldson holding the keystone sack, Cornish at short, and Lembke at third. Rhea pitched a consistent game, keeping the hits well scattered with the exception of the fifth inning when the U. registered four swats.

The Line-ups were:

K-R		U. N. M.
Cooper	C	Greenleaf
Rhea	P	Cartwright
Donaldson	1B	Johnson
Hebenstriet	2B	Dow
Lembke	3B	Horgan
Cornish	SS	Bryan
Oden	LF	Jones
Lauderbaugh	CF	Miller
Stutz	RF	Stowell
Umpires: Salazar and Lukken.

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT DOES RESEARCH WORK

Over the past week-end Dr. J. D. Clark and assistant, Ed. Lighton, were engaged in toxicological research in the case of a woman who died under strange circumstances in the western part of the state.

On portions of the stomach, analysis was made and reports were forwarded to the District Attorney.

Coach Johnson removes considerable wonderment in the minds of the students by announcing that the swimming pool may be used on Fridays, as well as Saturdays, by men and women together.

LEST WE FORGET

Inasmuch as the semester is practically over it seems advisable to say a word in parting about the Summer Session.

The condensed account as shown below clearly points out the excellence of the session's faculty, courses and accommodations; and it will be of value in interesting people you refer to the summer school.

If it is at all possible, by all means attend the summer session. It is distinctly worth while. But, if you are unable to attend, then get as many people as possible enrolled and bring them with you in case you come. Above all, circulate the pamphlets pertaining to the session, talk of the summer school to others, and advertise it in every way.

From the Provinciality of Razz Berry comes the announcement that the following masterpiece has been awarded the elegant set of cut glass suspenders for consistency of narration, authenticity of content, and delicacy of diction.

FROM MESA TO MESSRS
Scandal mongers rally 'round. Bend an ear! Absorb this choice specimen of rotund claudistinity. At last the balloon of suppression has been pricked by the point of indiscretion, and a rich flow of Gasseous information exudes forth. The basket of reputation which has heretofore swung on high drops, like a plummet, to the sphere of transparency.

This choice tit-bit is to be Fletcherized according to Hoyle. The Declaration of Independence and the Marquis of Queensbury. Linger over its soothing toothsome—lustrate revel over it—for such gratifying lusciousness may not be mastered outside the covers of Whiz Bang, Sherwood Anderson, and the unexpurgated atrocities of Boccaccio.

It was one of May's nocturnal perfections—last Wednesday, to be exact. The hour was one to ebulate the systole and disatole of gunus homo sapiens fem—eight, to be precise.

Two men (Supreme and Vapor) and Mis Snel Less were in the throes of a farewell sizzorlock when an incandescent idea smote them in joint and several—right before the feminine Sing Sing. The corruscating cogitation was this... Why not permit the power that begs to take a joy ride with them, and so protect the coveted Mis Snel Less from precocious retirement. Miss Inconsistency was summoned from her liar, and Veribrest and Fume, with laudable temerity, accepted her determination to accompany them with a smile achieved only by those who are distinctly worth-while. But Zounds! The dope was upset, the frijoles were diffused—Miss Capricious with pre-conceived perversity, demanded the immediate retirement of Mis Snel Less. (As usual, her whimsical suggestion was adhered to.) In short, the desirable young lady was whisked Sing-Sing-ward, and the malevolent two with the benevolent newcomer moshered off.

Mr. Premium did the French act before the Campus was left and hid him back to the bars of his Side-Tracked Juliet—while the remaining two—moshered on...

Now, my gentle reader, (not too gentle) remembering the Psalm of Life, which tells us of the sweetness of youth and the volatility of time, we hasten toward the end. But masticate further, bear with us—and be relished by the juicy morsels to come. Our magnanimity forbids our disclosure of what transpired on the moonlit Mesa, but our informant assures that nothing spectacular occurred before the sand-strawn bower of our flapper of the raving locks. But press honor coerces us into disseminating the audible evidences of gratitude at parting when the twain returned.

THE CLASS POEM

(As it really should be written, and as we should write it—if we were a Senior.)

We should like to tell the glory In a near poetic story Of what happened to the class of '22. While its true we got no knowledge

In our long years at college, We did everything they told us not to do.

If the story should be told, How the deans would rave and scold!

Why, we haven't done a thing for our degrees. We have loafed and we have bummed, We have whiskied, and we've rummed,

And our motto was, "Go do as you damn please."

We should have to tell of nights When in fancy's wildest flights We imagined we were lords of all creation—

When each seven and eleven Took us higher into heaven And we street-carried into town for dissipation.

We could rave on of defections In certain big elections Of soap box talks and sometimes bal-lot stuffings—

Exams in which we flunked And professors that we bunked And courses that we passed in by our bluffings.

And now our days in clover Are approximately over— Only God knows when we'll congregate anew.

Still we must say what is due To the Class of '22— Its the best gang ever went thru. U. N. M.

Will you tell me, pretty maiden, what's the matter with your face? It doesn't look to me just like the old familiar place. There's an artful blush upon your cheek, a white spot on your nose, and a tiny arching, pointed streak in lieu of eyebrow shows. The spots that were once freckled-plashed are smooth and white as pearl and on your forehead flatly smashed I see a waxy curl. The place upon my withered cheek your ruby lips caressed, now shows a Cupid's bow, as if by stamp impressed. Ah, when I look upon such charms without a fault displayed, at last I understand just why the poets call you Maid!

—M. G.

THE ENGINEER!

An engineer and dimpled maid Sat far apart in lighted hall And spoke in serious tones and laid Their plans for future proceedings.

"Exams next week," his voice was dry "I guess I'll study for it, said she. "I guess you had," indifferently, "And try to pass it," answered he.

And so they talked of things scientific, Math, and other acrid things, Until with faked sign prolific His hat upon his head he hangs.

"Remember madam," without pep, "The square of ninety-six is four," Her smile was sad, she answered, "Yep."

And stood with hand laid on the door. But suddenly the man turned round, The lady turned her eyes away, And cast them meekly on the ground At what the man was 'bout to say.

"Oh, by the way," that's how he started, "I near forgot! Will you wed me?" "I will," she answered broken hearted.

At being asked ungallantly. "My mother's willing"—daintily, "We've talked of nothing else for days."

"Oh, well, the square of four is Twenty-three, That's all that matters now to me. —L. T. H.

SPRING TOURNAMENT NEARING COMPLETION

Wagner and Wilfley in Line For Finals. Calkins-Berger Match Long and Even. Long Defeated by Wilfley. O. A. Matson Trophy to Go to Winner.

The First Annual Spring Tennis Tournament of the U. N. M. Tennis Club, which began last Saturday morning, has progressed rapidly and is nearing the semi-final stage. In the first round of play Bernhart defeated Dow in a three set match 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, a rather surprising development as the odds favored Dow. Wagner eliminated Coury in straight sets 6-0, 6-2, while Morgan yielded to Calkins, 6-2, 6-2. Berger defeated Clark 8-6, 6-4; Fertsch defaulted to Valentine; while Wilfley won from Hughes, 6-0, 6-2, and Horgan from K. Wilkinson 6-3, 6-3. Long easily put out Popejoy 6-1, 6-2; Miller defeated Bowman 6-3, 6-3 and Stowell won from Bursey after losing the first set 8-10, 6-1, 6-3. In the second round, Valentine forfeited to Berger, and Horgan lost to Wilfley in a disappointing match. Horgan seemed to be decidedly off his usual game and rather tired, and Wilfley's accurate placements and steady returns won him an easy victory, 6-1, 6-2.

The next matches narrowed the tournament decidedly. Wagner and Calkins both advanced to the semi-finals—Wagner by eliminating Bernhart, 6-2, 7-5, while in the closest match of the tournament thus far, Calkins nosed out Berger, 12-14, 11-9, 6-4. Wilfley advanced another notch toward the finals when he de-

University Honors and Prizes

The C. T. French Medal for Scholarship

A friend of the University, Mr. Chester T. French of Albuquerque, during the spring of 1921, notified President Hill of his willingness to establish a permanent fund, the proceeds of which might be used perpetually as a prize to stimulate scholarship. Mr. French accordingly gave $500 in Liberty bonds for this purpose. The C. T. French Medal for Scholarship will be awarded annually by the President of the State University to the student who meets these conditions:

(1) He or she shall have obtained during the year the highest general average for scholarship in a regular course of not less than 15 hours, leading to the Bachelor's degree, during a residence of not less than one full academic year.
