CABARABIAN NIGHTS A GREAT SUCCESS

University Dramatic Club Production is Successfully Given Before Two Audiences; Has Been Financial Success.

"Cabarabian Nights," the musical romance, offered to the public by the U. N. M. dramatic club, scored heavily in its two appearances May 24 and 25 at the High School auditorium. The play was written by Miss Ethel Hickey, author of "Go Ask Willie," and "Up in the Air;" the music was composed by Floyd Kellam. Joe Scotti directed the show.

The plot in the play was well thought out, and developed as the show progressed, in a way that was easy to follow. The costuming was unusually effective, equalling that of any show ever seen in Albuquerque. The stage setting contributed not a little to the appearance of the players and choruses.

Tom Calkins as Oscar O'Malley, the pirate captain, was in the play every minute of the time in a way that contributed to its success. The dancing of Betty O'Hara, who took the part of Genevieve, was graceful. Floyd Kellam, prince of Cabarabia, gave an exhibition of modern dancing to the tune of "Atavistic Girl," that has seldom been equalled by amateurs. Margaret Lee as Lady Delight, while not having a very heavy part, carried off her lines well.

Among the minor parts of the play, Hugh Graham, the sacred jester, was all that had been claimed for him; John Hayes so looked the part of Poco Loco, that no one in the audience could have recognized him. Howden and Patton as Primo and Secundo, were good for a laugh every time they appeared on the stage.

"Bish's Butterfly Dance" will become a permanent part of Varsity history, without doubt; and as for Skinny and Floyd, the ballet ponies—well, you had to see them to realize what a hit they made—words cannot describe their dance.

The scene of Cabarabian Nights was an island, where the prince had a treasure. The story opens with Oscar O'Malley and his crew on the island, in search of the treasure. However, the prince comes out victorious, in the end, gets the treasure, and wins the lady of the island whom he had met and made love to in Paris.

Too much praise cannot be given the music, especially the songs "Forgive," "Moonbeams," and "Out of the Land of Dreams," "Cabarabian Nights" and the "Atavistic Girl," were probably the most catchy tunes of the play.

At the time of going to press, Manager Neher was not able to state just how much money had been cleared, or whether the play would make a trip. He says, however, that it has been a financial success.

SIDE-LIGHTS ON THE PLAY.

It is reported that immediately after the Monday night performance, Skinny and Flossie signed contracts to appear exclusively in "The Follies of 1920."

One Look was enough to convince the audience that the three balmy nuts were really nuts whether they were balmy or not.

"The most graceful dance ever seen in Albuquerque," was the comment upon Howden's "Butterfly Dance," by an authority on dancing. Without doubt the next issue of the "Theatrical Magazine" will report the discovery of a new stage dancer in New Mexico.

Patton and Howden are considering an offer to tour all the cities of New Mexico, introducing the latest song hit of the season, "King Solomon," as sung by them in "Cabarabian Nights."

HOPI INDIANS BELIEVE UNIVERSITY DEBATORS SNAKE DANCE WILL LOSE TO COLORADO CAUSE RAIN COLLEGE

Famous Dance of Desert Indians is Described by Engineer of Indian Department.

At the regular student body assembly last Friday at Rodey Hall, General H. T. Robinson gave a lecture on the Hopi Snake dance that is held annually in the Indian villages of the Painted Desert.

The Hopi tribe lives in one of the most arid spots in the world, and as a result its existence depends on the coming of the rains late in August.

The Indian has connected the zig-zag path of lightning in the heavens with the zig-zag path of the snake in the sands. The lightning brings rain. The snake, living in holes in the ground, is in direct communication with the spirits of the underworld and can transmit to them the need of rain by the tribe.

The ceremony of the dance is religious in nature and each step is controlled by a fixed ritual. Fifteen days before the dance, snakes are captured and brought to the kiva where they

Two to One Decision Rendered Against New Mexico Team in First Debate With a Colorado School.

In a very spirited debate last Thursday night at Colorado Springs the University of New Mexico lost to Colorado College on the question of armed intervention in Mexico by a two to one decision. The University team was composed of Harold Bookner, George Gentry and Clyde Morris, while Monroe Heath, Della Scott and Ben Wendelken represented Colorado College. The debate was held in Perkins hall before a surprisingly small audience.

The affirmative, upheld by the University, based their arguments on the fact that American citizens have been afforded no protection in Mexico, and argued the duty of the United States, as a country through the constitution, Monroe Doctrine, and international law, made armed intervention necessary. They pointed out that the plan proposed by the negative had failed, and offered little chance of succeeding, while armed intervention was the quickest, surest, and cheapest of all plans.

The negative based its argument on the fact that armed intervention meant war, and the main part of their speeches was taken up with the results of such a plan of action. Throughout the debate there was a tendency to avoid the issues set up by the affirmative, and on only one occasion did the two sides clash openly, that being international law.

A most enjoyable trip was reported by the Varsity men, who commended the spirit of fairness exhibited by those with the debate, and expressed the wish that they might again have the opportunity of meeting the College the next time in Albuquerque.

U. N. M. STUDENT WINS APPOINTMENT

Friends of Walter Berger are pleased to learn that he has received an appointment from the National City Bank of New York where he is to train for foreign service. Mr. Berger will probably leave here shortly after the close of school and will remain in New York this summer.

This appointment provides a term of twelve months' schooling, three months a summer until completed when the successful appointee will enter the employ of the bank in one of its foreign branches.

It is a flexible one in grey with an embossed design done by Albert Newcomer. Just wait until you see it. It is a beauty.

MIRAGE TO BE OFF PRESS BY JUNE 5

The Mirage has gone to press and it is expected that it will be ready for distribution about June 5. Students will remember that there is still $1.50 due on the price of the book which must be paid upon receipt of the Mirage.

his year there will be an abundance of snap shots, some fifty or more. Besides the class and fraternity pictures, interior and exterior views of the new buildings form a group called "Our University."

Betty O'Hara has done her best on the art work and the results are more than attractive. Her designs appear as full page headings, dividing the book into "Activities," "Sports," "Classes," and "Modern Greeks."

Then look for the cartoons. There will be a number of good ones in which John Sedillo has done his best to make you laugh, and we are sure you will, too.

Did you ever wonder what impression U. N. M. would make on a cow-puncher? Buck Conner, who was with us during the winter, has written a sketch describing the Varsity in a cow-puncher's terms. Read it. It is worth it.

Of course all the University's clubs, athletics and other activities are written up and many of the articles are accompanied by pictures. The 1920 Mirage will truly be an account of the last nine months.

Oh, we almost forgot the cover. It

COLLEGE SPIRIT.

"College spirit is college love ready for work and self-sacrifice.

"College loyalty is not born after graduation.

"The smaller the college the greater must be the spirit shown by its students if it is to command respect.

"The man who has true college spirit would not let himself be flunked out."

During the past few years the standard traditions of the Varsity have fallen into disuse. Perhaps they died a natural death; perhaps the lack of interest and college spirit was due to the more pressing needs of the war. But be that as it may, it is undoubtedly true that greater college unity would be attained by the observance of these traditions.

Some years ago, at the beginning of the school year, an annual "sing" was held on the campus. His proved a splendid initiation into college spirit and enthusiasm for the freshman, as well as a means of focussing the townspeople's interest on the Varsity.

In the fall and throughout the entire year, victory celebrations were held—true-to-form Indian dances given about huge bon fires.

Later in the year interest centered about a "George Washington fete." The participants in this affair included the alumni, faculty and student body; and it was an occasion of great class rivalry.

Arbor Day furnished another means of testing the college spirit. The forenoon was given over to the planting of trees (practically all of the campus trees are Arbor Day mementos of the different senior classes); a picnic lunch was held on the campus at noon; and in the afternoon occurred the exciting baseball contest between the faculty and the studentbody. It has been said, "The faculty even won—sometimes."

Why not work together for a stronger, bigger, "peppier" University, and by more than words alone "cheer for the Varsity, the silver and the red."

LEARN TO FOLLOW.

There has been a spirit quite prevalent in the University this past year to which may be attributed at least a part of the lack of spirit in our school work, our athletics, and our social activities.

Although this spirit does not break out into acts of violence it is an ever present undercurrent.

This spirit is that which makes one resent authority. We are all trying to blame the fellow higher up. The freshmen say the upper classmen are not onto their job and hence have no right to rule, and the upper classmen are inclined to pass the buck to the faculty. The rules laid down by the students in the student body constitution are regarded as mere notes on paper. Should anyone attempt to enforce any of these rules they would be immediately marked as one who is trying to butt into other people's affairs and would be "shown" who was boss.

This spirit is present not only in the student body as such but is present also in a more or less marked degree in the other student organizations. The students won't even abide by rules made by officers they themselves have elected to rule them.

Let's see if we can't get together better and forget about our personal griefs and ambitions and try and work for the University as a whole and not some one little faction. Do it for the Varsity should be our slogan.

Quit hollering about the man above you and do your job a little better. It is you and not your neighbor who is responsible for the spirit in this University.

Don't think that because you are a freshman or a sophomore that there is no use of your trying. What you learn how to do as a lower classman you do when you are a junior or senior. To be a leader you must first be a follower.

THE WEEKLY.

Since an agitation has been begun to change the name of the Weekly, it might be of interest to the students to know how and when the Weekly originated. Below is a brief history of its origin.

The earliest paper of any sort published by the student body of the State University of New Mexico, was "The Cactus," which appeared in April, 1895, three years after the opening of the school. A few numbers of the papers were issued during the remainder of that school year, but there was no attempt to renew it the following autumn.

However, as the school grew, the students began to realize the importance of a college paper, and in December, 1898, the first "Mirage," a monthly publication, was issued. The aim of the "Mirage" was: First, to champion the cause of higher education in the West and especially New Mexico; second, to uphold the standards of the Varsity; third, to promote literary excellence therein; and, lastly, in combination with these to produce a first-class college paper. At that time the Mirage was one of three publications of its kind in the "territory" of New Mexico. "The Normal Quarterly" of the Silver City Normal, and "The Southwest" of the New Mexico Normal School at Las Vegas were the other two.

At the beginning of the school year of 1903, the "Mirage" was changed from a monthly magazine into a week-

SCHOOL TO RETURN TO SEMESTER PLAN

Fall Opening for Term of 4½ Months Takes Place September 20 and 21.

As the spring quarter draws to a close our thoughts turn to "next year." The faculty has decided to return to the semester plan which was in use at the University two years ago. Registration will take place on September 20 and 21. The second semester will open on February first. As the University will open earlier than this year, commencement will come on June 3 rather than later in the month.

The year 1920-21 will probably see the Domestic Science building erected and in use. At present no definite plans have been announced for any other new buildings.

Speaking of buildings, however, it is rumored that several of the fraternities on the hill are planning new homes for next year.

There will probably be some change in the personnel of the faculty as several of the present staff have accepted positions elsewhere for next year.

And while we are thinking of plans for the future, let us not forget U. N. M.'s new slogan—"Return and Bring One!"

Hopi Indian Believes Snake Dance will cause Rain are kept in ollas until the day for the ceremony arrives.

As a preliminary ceremony the snakes are taken from the huge vessels where they have been confined and handed to the priest who immerses them in a tieja filled with water and then flings them on the sand painted altar. While this washing of the snakes is taking place a constant chant is kept up by members of the tribe and smoke from sacred pipes calms the writhing mass.

The dancers then emerge from the kiva and to the chant and rattle of the antelope clan begin the dance. Snakes are held between the teeth of the dancers. They are calmed by the soft strokes of plumes in the hands of attendants who move at the side of the dancer. When the Indians think that the need of rain has been communicated to the snakes by their chanted prayers they release them to crawl back to their holes and to give the spirits of the underworld their "rain message."

Coach McGough gave a five minute talk on the trip of the track team to Tucson. He commented on the excellent sportsmanship displayed by Arizona, and upon the fighting spirit our men showed. He expressed himself as satisfied with the outcome, but said that the story would be a different one when Arizona meets U. N. M. here next year.

Freshmen—Get a girl and rush her hard for four years.—E. J.

ly. During that year the publication became the "U. N. M. Weekly," with the agreement that "Mirage" should be the name of all University year books published thereafter. Since then the paper has grown with the school and has shown in its columns the various changes that have taken place in the University.

GRADUATE—THEN WHAT?

Elizabeth Arnot is working at the Evening Herald. Her job is to passify the irate customer who can't understand why her name was left out of the society column.

Chester Boldt is going to spend a year in business and then take some technical business training.

Mary Brorein, after spending four strenuous years in the pursuit of knowledge, is going to rest at home. Inasmuch as she has devoted her time to domestic science we expect she will know how to make a happy home.

Helen Brown is going to share her knowledge with those who have not had the opportunities she has enjoyed. We think she is going to a far away country to teach.

Flora Chess has become so interested in the classification of bugs, most of which must be gazed upon through a microscope, that she is going to return here next year and work for a master's degree.

Anne Cristy is planning to teach. Her record in school leads us to believe that she will be very successful.

Edward J. Cristy is planning to enter some branch of the Y. M. C. A. work. Having devoted a great deal of his time in studying psych. he seems anxious to try out his theories.

Ernest Hammond is going to work for a year and then enter some school of commerce. Keep your eye on Ernie, he'll be a millionaire sugar dealer yet!

Katherine Keleher isn't sure how she is going to do it but she has decided that she is going to be self-supporting and her own boss. We see where some business man gets a fine private secretary.

Eunice Latamore is going to take a business course and then work for Uncle Sam.

Clyde Morris is going to go to a law school and get an LL. B. attached to the end of his name. We know he will be a good lawyer for he is both conscientious and bright.

Ralph Meyers is going to show what can be done with a good four year course under Dr. Clark in the chemistry department. Ralph has cast his lot with the Chino Copper Co. located in Hurley, N. M. He will be a chemist in the laboratory. We hope he will find some way to make a "copper" go further than it does now.

Mary O'Loughlin is going to teach. We cannot say where nor what but we know it will be well done as is Mary's tale.

Vernie Powers is going to do some post graduate work here next year. Vernie is the musician of our class.

Margaret Schumaker has secured the right to use the cook stoves in the Belen high school as a means to teaching the girls how to cook.

Helen Thacker is bound to play. If she can't play she says she will teach the little folks in the public schools how to nd the key and keep it when it comes to singing.

Roswell claims the undisputed track championship of the Southwest after defeating the Aggies in a dual meet at Roswell, May 22. Perhaps they can tell us why they claim the undisputed championship, but do not hold it. Also we would like to know how many world records were broken.

It is of interest to note that several of the records held by New Mexico track men are better than some made in the Colorado Conference meet. New Mexico's relay team beat the record of the best relay team there by 13 seconds in the mile.

Since the Kappa Konk last Saturday night, several Varsity girls have become aware that they have rivals when it comes to holding the attentions of certain Varsity boys.

Our first thought when the plaster fell at the Crystal, was that Bill Roy and "Goof" Hunt had burst through the balcony. Further investigation, however, showed these gentlemen to be entirely free from blame, as they were sitting in the second row down stairs.

Chet Boldt says he isn't in the habit of occupying the front row at a musical comedy, but that he thinks it will be a good habit to form, if any more shows are held at the Crystal.

Miss Hickey has attained a distinction that few authors in this part of the country have, that of having one of her plays stopped by the police. We might suspect her of secretly having had such an ambition, but for the fact that she refuses to take any of the credit for "King Solomon."

It is rumored that the Marinello shop has a larger patronage, since Skinny's and Floyd's appearance in "Cabaran Nights." Skinny is loud in his praise of the results obtained there. He describes the treatment as strictly confidential.

Cabarabian Nights has not proven as successful a matchmaker as did former Varsity plays. However, one or two interesting cases have been developed—you know them, so why mention names.

DR. HILL MAKING SPEAKING TOUR

Dr. Hill has been traveling through the state this week delivering commencement addresses. He has been the principle speaker at the high school graduation exercises at Artesia, Carlsbad, Hagerman and Lovington. Dr. Hill's trip has given him an opportunity to become acquainted with several of the schools of the state and has given him a chance to present the advantages of entering the State University this fall.

Clayton has spoken for his presence on May 25 at which time their commencement exercises will be held.

The State Agricultural College has invited Dr. Hill to deliver their commencement address upon the 15th of June. This invitation is an evidence of Dr. Clouthier and Dr. Hill to promote a friendly feeling between the State U. and the Ag. Col.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1920

August 22, 1916, brought to the U. N. M. a class of 102 freshmen, every member of it full of pep and eager to cultivate the college spirit. Only two months' training was necessary to prepare the class for its "quiet and uneventful" dance of November 10, 1916. In a few short hours those youngsters proved to the Varsity in general and the Sophomores in particular that the rights of Freshmen to preserve happiness in their own simple way must be respected. The class then turned its attention to the more serious questions of the year. Every day of the second semester threatened to bring a declaration of war against Germany, every day heated debates occupied the hours of freshmen history and economics classes and when the break with Germany did come, it was a member of this class that was the first U. N. M. volunteer. In quick succession forty-seven other members entered the service. Nor did war service obliterate patriotism in student activities for such offices as president of the student body during 1918 and 1919, editor, assistant editor, and manager of the Mirror, president, vice-president and secretary of the Y. M. C. A., editor and manager of the Weekly, manager of the Dramatic Association, vice-president of El Circulo Español, and secretary of the rifle club, were held by members of the class of 1920. Four members were in the opera chorus, three had leading parts in "Go Ask Willie," and three more in "Up in the Air." Twelve played football and eleven basketball. For four years the class has won a place on the debating team. Rather a pretentious amount of work when you consider that the present personnel of the class numbers only eighteen. Of the original class of 102 only Ann, Chet, Katherine, E. J., Flora, Ralph, Clyde and Mary are seeing it through at U. N. M. Survival of the fittest? Let the coming years decide!

But where are the other ninety-four? Fourteen are back at the Varsity, partially distributed somewhere between the Freshman Senior classes. Eight are married and four have died. Don Richardson is our Oxford representative. Martha Borgending is teaching Californians how to swim. "Tiny" Williams is helping to make the Aggie teams interesting for our men. Margaret McAnna is spending the year at the College of New Rochelle. Wallace Bacon is managing a model farm north of town. Walter Parkhurst is swelling New York's millions. Keinath is promoting an oil venture near Artesia, as a pastime after banking hours.

FIELD TRIP.

The entomology and ecology classes motored to Tijeras canyon a few Saturdays ago. A large number of insects were collected from three different streams. For once, Prof. Weese got filled up (at the picnic dinner) but Miss Mosher declared that it was impossible for her to get enough.

The Biology 3 class will motor to Whitcomb Springs Saturday, May 29, and the class then intends to hike to the top of the mountain.

ALPHA DELTA BALL.

The fourth annual ball of the Alpha Delta fraternity will be given at the Masonic Temple Friday, May 28. The Colombo orchestra will furnish the music. Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Clark will chaperone.

ALPHA CHI BANQUET AND DANCE

Alpha Chi Omega will hold its annual banquet at the Alvarado May 29, 1920, followed by a dance at the Woman's Club. The patronesses and alumnae will be the guests of the active chapter.

K. K. G. TO P. K. A.

Kappa Kappa Gamma was at home to Pi Kappa Alpha Wednesday evening, May 19, from 6:30 to 7:30. The hour was spent in dancing, and too soon came the time for the boys to depart.

SENIOR ENGINEERS ARE ENTERTAINED

Professor and Mrs. Wier entertained the advanced class in engineering last Wednesday evening at their apartment on West Central avenue. Each of the men were requested to "bring a lady friend." A delightful evening was spent with cards and the telling of yarns. A delicious buffet supper was served at a late hour. One girl expressed the sentiment of all, "Mrs. Wier surely is a fine cook."

KAPPA DELTA TO K. K. G. AND P. K. G.

Kappa Delta Nu entertained Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Kappa Alpha Friday evening, May 21, from 5:00 to 8:00. Because of the rain the mesa supper plans had to be abandoned and instead an indoor picnic took place at the Kappa Delta Nu house. Katherine Shotwell, a home economics student had charge of the delicious picnic lunch and the guests surely did full justice to it. During the evening fraternity and U. N. M. songs were sung. The principal song hit, "King Solomon," was sung by "Pat" and "Bish" in their usual harmonious way.

ALUMNI DANCE.

A large crowd attended the U. N. M. alumni dance at the Masonic Temple last Friday evening from 9 till 12. The dance was a decided success, for with a peppy University crowd and U. N. M.'s famous jazz orchestra, who wouldn't have a wonderful time? Several famous percentages were present. A feature of the evening was a duet sung by Mr. Perkins Patton, baritone, and Mr. Douglas Howden, soprano (?). Much credit for the success of the football benefit is due to Charles Caldwell and his committee: Sam Wells, Bob Hopewell, Mayme Mills, Florence O'Hara, Milton Davenport, Frances Bear, Katherine Angle, and Burch Foraker. Professor and Mrs. Bardsley chaperoned.

and unique benefit for their house fund in the form of a "Kappa Konk" at the Armory, Saturday evening, May 22. No admission was charged, but a fair Kappa collected ten cents for each dance. Soell's eight piece orchestra played. The floor was in an excellent condition, and many Varsity students danced till a late hour. This successful benefit was chaperoned by Mrs. Vaughney, Mrs. MacArthur and Mrs. Barton.

GLITTERING GLEAMS.

After due deliberation, we who are soon to pass through the college portals, mayhap never to return, decided that it might be well to leave to ye who follow, a few excerpts from our store of wisdom gathered during the last four years.

Co-eds—Major in home economics and plan to make some man happy.—Margaret.

Be grouchy and you will be happy.—Mary B.

Debate and cultivate an agreeable disposition.—Clyde Morris.

Be a live one and study the dead languages.—Eunice.

Don't concentrate on one girl, you miss lots of good friends.—Chester.

Learn how to "whack the ivories" and you will enjoy your college career.—Helen.

Join the Knights of St. Patrick and paint college politics—green.—Ralph and Clifford.

Let jazz sound the keynote in your college life.—Ann.

Go in for a snap course—chemistry. he lab is nice and cool.—Flora.

Be majestic, and you can command the respect of your professors.—Betty.

Imitate Tetraxzn. It will develop lung capacity.Verne.

Take it easy. You will get through just the same.—Ernie.

Study hard and grow fat.—Katherine.

You're Welcome.

IT'S HARD TO LOCATE.

"I hate my woolen underwear,"
Said little Willie B.
"It makes me itchy everywhere
And wastes my energy.
It itches here and itches there,
The tickle seems to crawl.
A place will itch, but when I scratch,
That ain't the place at all."
—Columbus Dispatch.

PERSONALS.

Prof. Lauders has returned from Clovis where he took part in the commencement exercises of the high school.
