STUDENTS URGED TO HAND IN ARTICLES

Everybody Asked to Co-operate in Making the Weekly a Live Wire by Contributing News Items; Jokes Are Solicited.

The editor and staff will appreciate very much any news items that may be put in the box which is directly behind the fountain in the Administration Building. It is our aim to make the paper this year one which deals chiefly with the University news. If you will please put down on a slip of paper any jokes or items of interest that you may think of and drop them in the slot, you will be conferring a great favor upon the staff.

It is an easy matter to scratch something down when you think about it or happen to see something funny. This is the only way we will be able to get all the happenings that go on around the campus. Do not be afraid of hurting anyone's feelings, because we all know that it is done in the best of spirit. Everyone likes to play a joke on the other fellow. Keep your eyes open and some of these days you will get a chance to turn the trick on the same fellow that made you feel foolish. If anything happens to strike you in the right spot jot it down on a slip of paper and put in the box. This is a school paper and consequently everyone should pitch in and do his share. The hearty co-operation of the student body at large is the main thing we are after. It doesn't cost any more and you just have that much better paper. Just sit down and think how easy it is to do these things and you will wind up by "stuffing" the little box in the hall. Remember that you do not have to sign your name to the slip.

There are lots of things going on that are real funny and there is only one way to let the other people in the institution hear about them and that is to publish them either in the University News or the Weekly.

CLARK DECLINES AN ATTRACTIVE OFFER

Dr. J. D. Clark, one of the old "stand-bys" of the University of New Mexico, became a candidate for Professor of Chemistry at the Colorado School of Mines, and, fortunately for the Varsity, declined. Dr. Clark would have had a much better position and would have drawn more salary than he now does at the U. N. M., but, feeling that the University has done a great deal for him, he was bound to decline the position. We are mighty glad that Dr. Clark saw his way clear to stay with us and undoubtedly we are much better off by his decision.

Professor Clark has been at the University for the last ten or eleven years, having his leave of absence some three or four years ago.

FOOTBALL SQUAD IS FINE LOOKING BUNCH

Prospects Very Bright for Speedy Eleven, With Enough Weight to Carry Pigskin to Victory; Candidates Many and Enthusiastic.

To walk out on the football field and see the representation of men out for the team is certainly a most gratifying sight. For the past five or six years the Varsity has been trying to develop a football team that would do justice to the institution, and has at last succeeded in doing so. When one compares the squad of this season with that of the past years it looks as though the institution has grown three-fold. We have several men out this season who pass the 185-pound mark and this is something that the University of New Mexico has not seen for some time. The men who carry this weight around are very active and with their eyes wide open as they should be there is no reason in the world why they should not make the team. The first night twenty-five men reported for duty and the crowd has been increasing one or two each night since. If his keeps up we will have to have a new athletic field to accommodate the candidates. Every man whose time is not occupied and occupied usefully in the afternoon should feel it his duty to put on a suit and help the team out. Let's all get behind the team and coach and make this a banner year for the University.

ELECTIONS HELD DURING THE WEEK

The elections the past week in the various organizations resulted in the selection of the following officers:

Class Officers:

Senior: Pryor B. Timmons, president; Bernice Hamilton, vice president; Thelma Fortney, secretary and treasurer.

Junior: Forrest Fielder president; Kathleen Long, vice president; George White, secretary and treasurer.

Sophomore: Lyman Thackery, president; Margaret Flournoy, vice president; S. Morgan, secretary and treasurer.

Freshman: Don Richardson, president; Evalyne Long, vice president; Hiram Hirkenhoff, secretary and treasurer.

Dramatic Club: Lina Fergusson president; Myrl Hope, vice president; Carolyn Michaels, secretary and treasurer; Edward E. King, manager.

Band: Manager, Seals Morgan; assistant manager, Earl Gerhardt.

Tennis Club: E. E. King, president.

Twenty-five men were out for the first night of football practice. "Hutch" says this is the best ever. Hurrah for the awkward squad! Here's hoping!

VESPER SERVICE IS VERY ATTRACTIVE

Mr. Seaman Delivers Splendid Talk to Student Members of Y. M. C. A. Sunday Afternoon; Words of Help and Encouragement for All Who Attended.

There has never been a larger vesper attendance in Rodey Hall than that of last Sunday, when Mr. Gale Seaman of the National Committee on Student Y. M. C. A. Organizations, delivered the address for the first service of the year. Whenever Mr. Seaman has appeared before the student body at vespers or in chapel—and his visits have been many—his message has been beautiful and his earnestness contagious.

There are many forces involved in the making of a true man or a woman—the period in which they live; their environment; heredity—but when Mr. Seaman chose for his subject "The Forces That Make a Man," he did not consider those inevitable influence. His address might well have been called, "The Forces That Make a Man Make Himself a Man." They are, he said, will power, associates and spirituality.

When we are capable of deciding instantly whether a thing is right or wrong; when we can choose and stand by our choice; when we can whip ourselves into line with the lashes of control and denial; when we can find and keep the perspective we know to be true—we can say that we possess will power.

But what is harder to attain—what seems more impossible at times, when an easier way is visible beside the straight and narrow one? Men and women of strength, of will power, are not made in a day, but through years of struggle and sweating of blood.

Then our associates. We all know "Show me with whom thou art found, and I will tell thee who thou art." And though the modern ideal is the attainment of universal and equal love for our neighbor—men and women will always choose to be in intimate association with certain friends—comrades, without whom they may not have a true expression of themselves. We may influence, but we must be influenced immeasurably by our friends, and our carefulness in the choice of them is highly significant not only of what we are, but what we are to be.

And then we come to spirituality. A man may have an iron will, an inflexible purpose, a high sense of morality and possess wonderful intellectuality; his friends may be well chosen and loyally served, but unless his life is leavened with the touch of the Master's hand, his will power is pitiable, his friendship futile. A man must find his best fulfillment in spiritual expression. But we no longer think that this spiritual fulfillment comes with fasting and prayer. Personal service—social service—brotherly love—are the means by which it is attained. Phillips Brooks has said that while

FORREST FIELDER IS JUNIOR'S PRESIDENT

Deming Boy Unanimously Chosen for High Class Honor; Kathleen Long Elected Vice President; Emmons Declines Nomination for Third Term.

On Monday, the 28th of August, at 12:30 a. m., Rodey Hall was honored by a most noble gathering of Juniors. The purpose of this important meeting was to select for coming term the class officers, viz.: A President, Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer.

Glenn Emmons, who has been President of the class of '18 for the last two years, delivered the keynote speech. His masterful voice was tinged with the importance of the occasion, and when he finally called for nominations (the sign that he was going to stop) he was greeted by the uproarious applause of twenty pairs of hands. (Arise Dante and assign me a new corner of Hades for the man who maketh an exceedingly long nomination speech!) After paying his candidate several neat compliments, in an appealing speech, Floyd Lee nominated Forrest Fielder for President of his class. The motion was then seconded. It was here that ex-President Glenn Emmons proved himself a true American and a staunch follower of his eminent predecessor, Hon. George Washington, for when he was nominated (for the third time since he entered the U. N. M.), for President of his class, he declined the nomination. Fielder was then elected unanimously.

Kathleen Long, who proved herself one of the most progressive and enterprising of her class last year when she successfully handled the monies and minutes of her fellow classmates, was nominated for Vice President and elected unanimously.

The only opposition that developed in the Junior convention was when Clifford Wolking and George White were both nominated for Secretary-Treasurer. After a vote was taken it was found that White was elected by a close margin.

The elections being over and having no further business to attend to, a motion to adjourn was in order and "EXIT" the class of '18.

Christ was the greatest sufferer the world has ever known, he was the happiest, because the best. True happiness and goodness are so interchangeably combined that the one is the other, and both inseparable.

None of these great things are obtained without struggle and heart-break, but when we have found ourselves through the expression of our will power, and our friendships, then we may lose ourselves in the glow of spiritual peace.

There is struggle and opposition at every step, but without an enemy there can be no battle; without battle, no victory; and without victory, no enjoyable accomplishment.

THE GLAD HAND.

Welcome, new students. You are coming to a school whose students are traditionally hospitable. We welcome you with a genuine fervor—that genuine cordiality that the West alone affords. You are coming here to develop your faculties, to learn what you can, and we hope to forget what you should. You will have a happy time during your college days if you have perseverance and push. You will have some hard lessons, some that will test your nerve and your mettle. Education can't be given you in sugar-coated pills, and it is no mushroom acquisition. You may not remember any of these facts, nor heed any of these suggestions. But here are a few things that you will learn, or should now know and observe.

It is a waste of energy to be in hurry. Rome was not built in a single night. It takes seventy-five years for an oak to develop, while a pumpkin matures in four months.

Education is a growth. You can't expect it to be given to you miraculously.

If you are coming here to get information only stored in your brain, you might as well stay at home. The World Almanac is full of interesting facts.

Don't always go where the brilliant lights seem to shine. Moths do that, and suffer for it.

Take your hard knocks with a smile, but learn to sober up when you are alone.

Remember that you need not speak a word to be known. Your life is already revealed in your every act. Emerson said: "What you are speaks so loud that I cannot hear what you say."

The loud mouth bully is heard; the gentleman is seen and known.

Don't go where there is the biggest noise, nor associate with the loudest voiced man. An empty cart makes the most noise.

Use your head and keep in the background rather than in the front ranks. If there is anything in you, nothing can keep you down. If there is nothing in you angels can scarcely help you to success.

Shaking men in college is like shaking apples in a barrel the big ones will come to the top.

Have your convictions and stand by them. A ball, rolled in every direction, is a good plaything, but nobody will use it for the foundation of a house.

Maybe you have some rough corners to wear off. If you have, congratulate yourself; the most durable stones have the sharpest corners.

Remember that you can't amount to much unless you are master of yourself. We admire the watch with the best regulator.

Have a little consideration for your elders. They may have experienced some of the wonderful sentiments that you imagine are your own.

Remember that after all your life must be lived by you alone. Hitch your wagon to a star; have the highest ideals; drive on; plod on; you are only one in millions; but remember that you can be the one in a million who has the greatest ambition and purpose. And whether you reach your goal, or achieve only moderate success, you will be a bigger man for having aimed high, and will go farther in your course than had you drifted like a boat without a rudder. And you will be happier because you dreamed of the future; you will know that virtue is its own reward that sacrifice and altruism bring the greatest happiness, and that you are "monarch of all you survey."

SHE ADJUSTED HER HAT.

Miss Myrtle, ere starting, adjusted her hat,
Then she passed the hall mirror, and stopped before that,

And adjusted her hat;
She went through the door and stood out on the mat

Awaiting the car, in which later she sat,
And each time she gave her back hair a smart pat,
And adjusted her hat.

She shopped until noon and adjusted her hat,
She came back for luncheon and stayed for a chat,
And adjusted her hat.

Then went to a picture play called "Bettie's Brat,"
Stopped in at the doctor's, was treated for fat,
But no matter when, and no matter where at

She adjusted her hat.

In the evening she danced and adjusted her hat,
And when about 12, she got back to her flat,
She adjusted her hat;

She slept and dreamed that in far distant North Platte,
She met an Apollo named Matthew V. Pratt.

And though sound asleep, to inveigle young Matt,
She adjusted her hat.
—Harvey Peake.

A Little Sarcastic.

'Twas Harry who the silence broke;
"Miss Kate, why are you like a tree?"

"Because, because, I'm board," she spoke;
"Oh, no, because you're woo'd," said he.

"Why are you like a tree?" she said;
"I have a heart?" he answered, so low;

Her answer made the young man red;
"Because you're sappy, don't you know?"

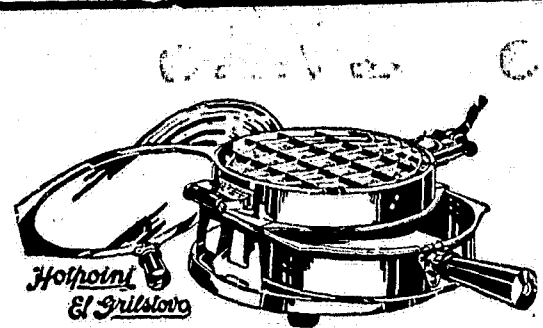

Edward Cristy is pledged Pi Kappa Alpha.

Joe McCanna has resumed his studies at the University.

Perhaps

"Does money ever really talk?"
"So they claim."
"I wonder when."

"Well, you sometimes see it stated that money is tight. I suppose that's when it gets loquacious."

For the students who want to do a little cooking in their own rooms Hotpoint Electric El Grillstove can't be beat. It operates from any lamp socket; boils, broils, fries and toasts, either above or below the glowing coils; performs any two operations at same time at current cost of one, and if used with Hotpoint Ovenette it bakes and roasts. In fact, it is a small range. Let us show you.

LITERARY SOCIETY TRAINING VALUABLE

Numerous Benefits to Be Obtained by Membership in "Khiva," Organization Devoted to Consideration of Important Issues in Political and Other Affairs.

To the new students "Khiva" conveys little meaning. To the minds of those who were here last year it suggests several interesting meetings of the U. N. M. Literary Society.

Nothing has been done yet to renew the interest in this organization. There should be a meeting soon to reorganize the society and to outline a plan which should be more strictly adhered to than that of last year. "Make hay while the sun shines" has stood the test in other applications, and it is applicable here. The sooner the students begin to take part in literary activities the better it will be for both themselves and the school.

Perhaps one of the main reasons why students think they cannot participate in this society is the lack of time. In order that the most may be derived from the least expenditure of time, extemporaneous speaking would perhaps be one of the best means of accomplishing the end sought. The simple relating of a story is not so simple as it would seem; the benefit derived from talking to an audience from notes or from a memorized outline is far more valuable than memorizing and reciting some selection. For this reason it might be well to consider the suggestion that much time be given to reviews of current issues; political situations; books and stories, and current affairs. To have an opinion about a matter is easy; to express that opinion to others, forcibly, soundly and reasonably is quite a different thing. Nothing would tend to make a man know he knows a thing, and why he knows it, more than a course as outlined. These topics would appeal to the young men; the ladies could easily find some suitable to their tastes. Whatever course is taken, the society should be reorganized at once. It is useless to say that faculty guidance and criticism would be appreciated.

Thoughtful Hubby

"My dear, I wouldn't lift that heavy tub. You might injure your back. Let me lift it."

"But you have on your new Palm Beach suit."

"Poor economy, my dear, to risk injuring a million dollar woman to save a five dollar suit."

Another Triumph

"The periscope is a wonderful thing."

"Um. But nature beats all inventors."

"Thinks so?"

"Sure the doctor can look at your tongue and tell what is going on in your stomach."

"There's a coatless man in the dining room."

"Would it be policy to order him out?"

"Dunno. He's got a fat pocket-book in his hip pocket."

"My last painting."

"I never saw a sunset look like that."

"Well, what do you think I am—a mere copyist?"

LOYAL CO-ED TELLS OF BERKELEY TOWN

(Author Unknown.)

"I came, I saw and I ran away"—that about expresses it, but even so California isn't such a bad University. In fact if I had never made the acquaintance of U. N. M. I might have been perfectly satisfied to stay there and might eventually have become an enthusiast—there are those who quite rave about it. But so much for what might have been; the important part, at least to me, is that I did not stay. I came—yes, with curiosity mingled with dread and tinged with black-bordered regret on leaving Albuquerque; I was prepared for the worst. But then I saw—Berkeley, a typical University town, with its numerous fraternity houses; and shop windows eloquent of a desire to appease the slightest dishes of overworked students; and the University itself spread out over a campus which except for the impressive looking buildings resembles a park; rustic bridges, green hills, fountains. But here are a few things that you will learn, or should.

It is a waste of energy to be in a gentleman is seen and known.

A park; rustic bridges, green hills, trees, flowers and shrubbery in abundance—an athletically inclined student has every opportunity to practice his hobby going from one class to the next. All this I saw and then some—then one day the temptation was too much and so I ran away. I found the road "Santa Fe" and first thing I knew I ran right into Albuquerque, and U. N. M. forgave me for swerving in my loyalty and took me back and after I had done penance to the extent of making up three days of work. So when any of you other restless ones are tempted to desert U. N. M. remember that if you go and see you, too, may run away.

Disobliging

"I'm in tough luck, George. Old doughbags refused to let me marry his daughter until I could show him $50,000 that I had earned by my own efforts."

"Too bad, old chap."

"But that isn't the worst of it. He wouldn't even give me a tip on the market so I could earn the money. A poor man has no chance at all these days."

Her Motive

"Mercy sakes!" exclaimed the caller. "What dreadful language that parrot uses! How can you ever stand it?"

"Oh, I bought him to reform him," replied the lady of the house.

Careful

"Had your vacation yet, old man?"

"Not yet. I'm going to take mine the same time the boss takes his. Then he can't see how easily the office can get along without me."

A Real Benefactor

"Man will in time harness the tides."

"Yes the chap who wants to be a public benefactor will try to study out some way of hitching up a cool wave."

"So you don't think much of that young man? Why, he's an efficiency expert. Great at locating the waste."

"I didn't find him so," said the summer girl.

What Causes Laughter?

All the old writers from Plato to Lord Kames have agreed that laughter is caused by wit, and that wit is a 'short lived surprise.' They say laughter is caused by a short lived surprise. But the old writers are all wrong. Laughter is always caused by some deformity in art or nature. If surprise could cause laughter those unfortunates whose limbs are snapped off by sharks would have screamed with laughter. If surprise would cause laughter then man would laugh when he is shot in the back. No, indeed, surprise will not cause laughter unless caused by a deformity. The deformity is the real cause of laughter. You would not laugh at a beautiful swan but if you were walking along and should see a double-headed rooster running both ways to get away from himself you would burst out laughing. If you want to be funny be a freak.

Reception for New Students.

On Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. Boyd entertained the student body at a reception at their home in honor of the new students. Beside Dr. and Mrs. Boyd the members of the Senior class in cap and gown received the guests. Punch was served during the evening. All students, according to the usual custom, left their signatures in Dr. Boyd's book. A very delightful evening was enjoyed. A short program of musical numbers was also provided for entertainment.

The Albuquerque Alumin Association of Phi Mu entertained the girls of the active Chapter and their pledges Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Erna Fergusson.

Sigma Chi Dance.

The dance given in the Sigma Chi house on Friday night was a remarkable success. This is the first time the Sigma Chi house has ever been thrown open for a dance and the novelty of a dance in a new house, coupled with the hospitality for which the "Sigs" are noted, made the dance most enjoyable.

Punch was served during the evening and a light lunch at midnight. A feature of the evening was the singing of the Sigma Chi songs. Dr. and Mrs. Boyd, Prof. and Mrs. Sherwin were special guests.

Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Albright, Misses Bernice Hamilton, Laura Colgan, Adelaide Shields, Evalyne Long, Helen Wilson, Ethel Kieke, Maime Wells, Kathren Little, Reba Conner, Margaret Flournoy, Evelyn Trotter, Lina Ferguson, Kathleen Long, Helen Vincent, Helen Alldredge, Messrs. ## LOCALS

Miss Louise Lowber will not return this year, but will attend George Washington University at Washington, D. C.

Miss Shirley von Wachenhusen and Miss Kathryn Conway have returned from New York the past week. Miss Lillian Spicard also returned from Tennessee.

Miss Mildred Cady is wearing Phi Mu ribbons.

Mr. Nelson Newman, a former University student, expects to enter Yale for the two-year course in forestry.

Alpha Gamma pledges up to date are: Evelyn Trotter, Evalyne Long, Katherine Keleher, Kathren Little, Lois Davis, Hazel Hawkins, Helen Wilson and Katherine McMillen.

T. A. Doxey, Jr., is the latest Sigma Chi pledge.

Dr. Mitchell the other day overheard a Freshman making remarks about his bald head. He put the quietus on the fellow with the following remark: "Young man, when my head gets as soft as yours I can raise hair to sell."

They say "love is blind," but I know a lover on the campus who can see a good deal more beauty in his sweetheart than I can.

I WILL.

I will start anew this morning with a higher fairer creed;
I will cease to stand complaining of my ruthless neighbor's greed;
I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear;
I will waste no moment whining and my heart shall know no fear.
I will look sometimes about me for the things that merit praise;
I will search for hidden beauties that elude the gambler's gaze;
I will try to find contentment in the paths that I must tread;
I will cease to have resentment when another moves ahead.
I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown;
I will not deny his merit but I'll strive to prove my own;
I will try to see the beauty spread before me rain or shine;
I will cease to preach your duty and be more concerned with mine.

the afternoon at the movies and Grimshaw's.

Open House.

The Sigma Chi's held open house Sunday afternoon for all their friends. Refreshments, music and talk made a pleasant afternoon.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Jean Arnot, a former student of the University, to Mr. George Franklin Mitchell. The wedding took place very quietly Thursday afternoon at the bride's home. While at the University Mrs. Mitchell was affiliated with Xi Chapter of Phi Mu.
