FLOYD LEE SAFE.

Mrs. Fred Lee received a cablegram from a friend in Paris, France, stating that her son, Sergeant Floyd W. Lee of Battery A, who is with the American expeditionary forces in France is well. Floyd was one of the first University men to enlist after war was declared. At the time of his enlistment, he was President of the Student Body and Captain elect of the 1917 football team. Mrs. Lee had not received word from her son for some time on account of the advance that the battery was making till the cablegram yesterday. No mention was made of the other battery, as the cablegram was sent from a personal friend of the Lee family who resides in Paris.

The new 1918-19 catalogue will be off the press and ready for distribution about January 15th.

S. A. T. C. MEN ARE URGED TO KEEP UP THEIR INSURANCE

PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS ENTITLES SOLDIERS TO KEEP IN FORCE WAR INSURANCE, WHICH IS CONVERTIBLE INTO OTHER FORMS AFTER FIVE YEARS.

In a statement by Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury department, all S. A. T. C. men are urgently advised to keep up their War Risk Insurance, even after their discharge from the army. This insurance is convertible after five years into other forms of life insurance, such as are issued by the regular companies.

The following letter, which was read to the men in camp explains thoroughly the governments plan and purpose.

1. The following statement has been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury for the information of soldiers about to be discharged.

Treasury Department,
November 15, 1918.

Statement by Secretary McAdoo:

I desire to remind all America's soldiers and sailors that it is their opportunity and their privilege to keep up their insurance with the United States Government after the war officially terminated and even after they have returned to civil life.

More than four million officers and men of the Army and Navy are now insured with the United States Government, through the Bureau of War Risk Insurance of the Treasury Department. The grand total of insurance is more than thirty six billion dollars.

In its present form, this insurance is annual, renewable term insurance at net peace rates, issued against death and total permanent disability. Under the provisions of the War Risk Insurance Act, every person holding this insurance may keep it up in this form even after he leaves the service for a period of five years. All that is necessary is the regular payment of premiums.

Moreover, the law provides that not later than five years after the termination of the war as declared by Presidential proclamation, the term insurance shall be converted, without medical examination, into such form or forms of insurance as may be prescribed by regulations and as the insured may request. Presidents and Commanding Officers:

In accordance with the provisions of the law, these regulations will provide for the right to convert into ordinary life, 20-payment life, endowment maturing at age 62, and into other usual forms of insurance. This insurance will continue to be Government insurance. The various forms of policies which the Bureau of War Risk Insurance will write are now being prepared.

Every person in the military or naval service owes it to himself and to his family to hold on to Uncle

Sam's insurance. It is the strongest, safest, and cheapest life insurance ever written. Just as this insurance relieved our soldiers and sailors of anxiety and misgivings for the welfare of their loved ones and protected them against the hazards of war, so it will continue to protect them through the days of readjustment and reconstruction and in time of peace.

The advantages of keeping this insurance in force cannot be emphasized too strongly. The right to continue it is a valuable right given by the Government to our fighting part of the men as compensation for their services. If this right is lost by allowing insurance to lapse it can never be gained. When Government insurance is allowed to lapse the holder cannot again obtain insurance except from private companies at a considerable increase in cost. Moreover many of the men may have become uninsurable as a result of the war through physical impairment, and if these allow their insurance to lapse they will lose the last opportunity for their families to have the protection of life insurance.

The economic value of life insurance to society is so well recognized as to need no argument. The Government now has in force upon the lives of four million American citizens who have fought its battles, a life insurance group larger than all others combined. Therefore it is manifestly of the highest importance not only to be fighting men and their dependents but to all the people, that the largest possible percentage of this insurance shall be continued in force after its holders shall be returned to civil life.

2. It is desired that this statement be brought to the attention of all members of the S. A. T. C. by whatever means Commanding Officers and heads of institutions shall deem most effective. Committee on Education and Special Training.

Brigadier General, General Staff, Ch

CHARLES LEMBKE IMPROVING.

Miss Charlotte Lembke yesterday received a letter from her brother, Lieutenant Charles H. Lembke, written on November 18, stating that a slight operation had been performed on his tongue, resulting in the removal of a piece of shrapnel, and that he was getting along nicely. He was on his way to England, he said, to get his teeth fixed. There was nothing in his letter to indicate that he had heard that he was supposed to be dead.

WEATHER BUREAU IS NOW BEING INSTALLED

Professor Leupold to be in charge of Government Station at the University. Accurate record to be kept. No forecasts.

Work has been begun on the U. S. government weather station which is being installed at the University. The instruments will be placed on top of the second and third stories of the main building. Professor Leupold is the man appointed by the government to have charge of the station.

When completed, the station will keep an accurate record of temperature, amount of sunshine, direction and velocity of the wind, humidity, and amount of precipitation.

A shelter will be built on the top of the second story for thermometers. A thermometer to record the maximum temperature, and one to record the minimum, will be placed under this shelter. A thermometer will record the temperature at all times.

Also under the same cover will be placed a psychrometer having a wet bulb and dry bulb thermometer by which the humidity of the atmosphere will be determined. In addition to this psychrometer, there will be an automatic instrument for recording the humidity.

The rain gauge for measuring the amount of precipitation will be on the same floor. An instrument will be installed for measuring the fall of snow, but the amount of precipitation recorded for a snow fall will be measured as water, or melted snow.

On top of the third floor will be located the wind vane for determining the direction of the wind, the anemometer, and the sunshine recorder. The wind vane keeps a record of the direction of the wind for every minute of the day. The anemometer will record the velocity of the wind.

The sunshine recorder will keep a record of only the bright sunshine during the day. It is not sensitive enough to be affected by the early morning and late evening sunshine, nor that which is partly veiled by clouds.

Professor Leupold wishes to have set at rest any rumors that he is to be the official weather prophet for this part of the country, or that any forecasts will be made from this station. It is simply a recording station, set here by the government to keep a record of Albuquerque weather. Forecasts will continue to come from Denver, as heretofore.

Thirty per cent of the S. A. T. C. men have announced their intention of leaving school as soon as they have been discharged. Reasons given for this move, in the order of their importance are: Insufficient funds, homesickness, no desire for college education, inability to pass courses. By far the majority are leaving because of lack of funds. Some are leaving because of a fancied or real inability to secure the course they wanted.

BOOST.

From now on, activities at the University should resume their normal state as rapidly as possible. Instead of men constantly leaving as has been the case for the past two years, they will be returning. By next fall, we should have a large number of the old students back to help us restore the old organizations.

But, those who are here now, should not wait until then to start in the re-organization. It is too late and affairs are to unsettled and uncertain to make any work practicable this quarter. Next quarter, however, we will know where we stand. Those who return will be bona fide students, and will be likely to remain at least two quarters. Then elections may be held, debating begun and athletics put on their feet.

Even now we can begin to lay plans, and be ready with suggestions for the welfare of the school.

Among the things to be done are: Organization of classes and election of class officers; organization of the students body and athletic association; and a revival of the debating society. Athletics can be started as soon as the new director is secured and will be more or less under his direction.

Work must also be begun on the "Mirage" at once if we are to have one this year. In this, the editor, Miss Elizabeth Arnot, and the business manager will need all the help and co-operation that the student body can give. At best it is a hard task, but more so this year on account of the lack of old students to help.

If you have any ideas or plans for the betterment of the school, do not hesitate to set them forward. The columns of the "Weekly" are open for such matters, and we would like to see some plans set forth.

A GLANCE AHEAD.

Within a week the S. A. T. C. will be with us no more. The question is now, will there be anything in its place?

The Second rate school of the future will be the one that does not include military training in its required course. America has gotten over the "unpreparedness is bliss" state of mind, and the tendency will be toward universal military training instead of none at all. The millions of men and the thousands of officers who will soon return from France will bring with them a military atmosphere and influence which will have an effect. The rest of us must fall in line or be left out.

Ask the men who have been in the army what they think of its value in the training of mind and body. Nine out of ten will endorse it with enthusiasm. Military training alone will give that poise, self-control, and well developed body that is characteristic of army men.

The young man seeking a college will hereafter look carefully to this side of the question. There will be a demand for a good real course in military drill; not a high school cadet corps, but a regular company under trained officers. Very probably the government will lend its assistance in some such form as the R. O. T. C. If so, the problem will be made easier.

We believe that a large majority of those eligible would jump at the prospect of continuing their military work, and it is hoped that the University can offer such advantages in the near future.

COLLEGE ATHLETIC IN EAST ON PRE-WAR BASIS.

Intercollegiate athletics in the western conference were restored to a pre war basis here today at a meeting of the "big ten" faculty committee held in connection with the schedule meeting of the athletics directors and coaches.

The freshmen rule, wiped out when the war department assumed control of the universities to establish student army training corps, was restored and the faculty committee again came into control of athletics. The committee however, voted to disregard all eligibility rules pertaining to the 1918 football season, which makes it possible for those who played varsity football to complete for four years in that sport.

Although the committee voted to ignore eligibility rules for football players, the freshman rule will go into effect now and no first year men will be permitted to take part in athletics contests for the remainder of the collegiate year.—Exchange.

AIMLESS WANDERINGS OF A MISGUIDED LEAD PENCIL

(By IGNATZ JASBO)

There are one hundred buck privates of the S. A. T. C. camps who are expecting to do some sort of a metamorphosis this week, that is from a soldier to a civilian, or a hobo, as the case may be. In fact, by the time this article is published, Ignatz Jasbo expects to be riding the bars again.

The poor innocent youngsters who were under eighteen, and who have paid hard, cold cash for the pleasure of being drilled, disciplined, and put on K. P. (kitchen police) etc., received their last kick Monday evening, when they were told to get out of camp. These fellows deserve even more credit than the Class A men of the camp, and have the sincerest sympathy of the men who are drawing pay. However, sympathy never paid and board bills nor washed any dishes for them; theirs has certainly been the dregs, and not the cream.

Privates Pendergrass, Wallace, Steed, Morris, and Sanchez (from Clovis), liked the camp so well that after going home they reconsidered and came back a few days ago. The lieutenant saw them wandering around camp and decided that they needed exercise. Now when you think the C. O. is going to let any of these birds get anemic from lack of exercise you just don't know him, that's all—and, to make a sad story short, the C. O. found that the cook was short of help. In fact, our camp was crippled at that time by a general strike of the dish washers and spud peelers union (nuff sed). There always was something familiar about Snooks and Gloomy, but no one could ever place them. However, as soon as one of the lieutenants saw them rushing a dish towel with a pair of overalls, the cook heard him say: "Ah! I recognize you now; you used to wash dishes in Charley's White Front!" Queer how a familiar scene will recall old memories.

The next time barracks one, two, three and four decided to fight over the Victrola, they will go to town to do it. Two distinguished gentlemen (?) who had been A. W. O. L., arrived in camp just in time to join these men in their little night performance (which was done doubletime). As a pep extinguiser Lieutenant Wills will be vouchered for. The two fellows A. W. O. L. who had just finished a sumptuous repast, objected seriously to doing any physical exercise so shortly after a heavy feed. However, their objection was overruled and the result was that an oyster cocktail and ice cream fought a pitched battle which they received full benefit of. Is it necessary to

PIERCE RODEY IN RESERVES.

Pierce C. Rodey former University student, who joined the navy some time ago, recently received a letter from the commandant of the eighth naval district, located at New Orleans, advising him that he had been placed upon the reserve list. Mr. Rodey put in two months aboard a submarine chaser in the Gulf of Mexico. Placing him on the reserve or inactive list is almost the same as a discharge, but holds him in reserve in case hostilities should for any reason be reopened and his services would be needed. It is his intention to resume the practice of law here.

LIEUTENANT HOWARD TO REMAIN AT U. N. M.

BUSY.

Your Uncle Sam is busy; he has got to run the works; He hasn't time to bother with a citizen who shirks.

He has to pull a freight car and he has to shovel coal, And plow and sow and harvest to keep Freedom in control. He's got to fly an aeroplane; he's got to sail a boat, And be polite to ladies and escort them to the vote.

So don't be idly dreaming like a plump secluded clam. You want to be in training to assist your Uncle Sam.

Your Uncle Sam is busy. He has got to keep an eye On the youngsters clean and manly whose endurance we must try. He's got to watch the trainer and he's got to watch the cook. He's got to count the pennies that oncerolled around so free, And gather up the crusts and crumbs once scorned by you and me, And square misunderstandings that may threaten through the land. Your Uncle Sam is busy. Are you lending him a hand? —Exchange.
