INSTITUTE DEFEATS UNIVERSITY TEAM

Roswell Cadets Win First Game of Season From Varsity on Institute Field Monday.

The University of New Mexico lost the first game of the season to the Military Institute at Roswell, Monday by a 12 to 3 score. The game was played on the Institute gridiron, the field being a slow one due to the excessive amount of rainfall during the week preceding the game. A fair crowd witnessed the game, considering the state of the weather; the High School was especially in evidence, turning out a goodly number of rooters for the University.

The Institute kicked off to the University, but recovered the ball. A signal for a fair catch was made by Calkins when the Institute punted, and the cadet team was penalized fifteen yards. The first score was made at this point by the University, by a place kick by Calkins. The first quarter ended with a 3 to 0 score in favor of the Varsity.

During the first part of the second quarter Talbot of the Institute intercepted a forward pass on the 60-yard line and ran the length of the field for a touchdown. The attempt to kick goal failed.

The University kicked off at the beginning of the second half, and carried the ball over the Institute's 5-yard line. The ball was lost on downs, however, the Varsity team being too light to carry the ball across the goal line.

In the last few minutes of play, Talbot of the Institute carried the ball around the University's left end for fifteen yards, scoring the second touchdown. Another attempt to kick goal failed, and the game ended 12 to 3 in favor of the cadets.

C. Lee was shifted from the position of left tackle to replace Balcomb at right halfback during the last quarter. Penniwell was shifted from left guard to left tackle, and Redfield replaced Penniwell at guard. Redfield was the only substitute who entered the game.

The forward pass was used repeatedly with much success by the University team; the cadets used the forward pass a number of times, but with small results. Their cross-buck proved to be their best ground-gainer.

Though the Roswell players outweighed the U. N. M. team over ten pounds to the man, the game was at every point a fast and hard one.

It is hard to pick the individual players who showed up to the best advantage though Calkins, Shields, C. and F. Lee made an especially good showing.

A second game with the Institute has been scheduled for November 10, at Albuquerque, when the team will have a chance to make good the loss it suffered at Roswell Monday.

A rumor has reached the Varsity that "Daddy" Bell, a well-known character to the older students, was accidentally killed while on a hunting trip near Gallup recently. As yet there is no definite confirmation of the report.

N. M. E. A. TO MEET THANKSGIVING WEEK

University Busy Preparing to Make Visit of Teachers One of Interest and Profit.

Thanksgiving week will mark another gathering of the New Mexico Educational Association in Albuquerque, and as usual, the University is doing its part to make the meet of interest and profit to the large number of teachers who are expected to be present on that occasion.

Last year the University Orchestra and Glee Club made the biggest "hit" of the program, and the Institution is determined not to be outdone on this occasion, and is busy with plans and preparations for an even better participation this year.

The Orchestra and Glee Club under Professor Seder's direction has been at work for quite a while, and everything is in readiness in that respect. The University will be represented in the annual Intercollegiate Oratorical Association, and the biggest event of all, the football game between the U. N. M. and the N. M. A. C., will wind up things, on Thanksgiving afternoon.

Every week until the meet is over, the Weekly will carry information of interest concerning the event, and all the students are urged to keep informed on same, and to do their part in insuring its success.

MRS. HENDRSON PLEASES FACULTY

Assisted by Professor Seder, Plays Number of Violin Selections During Assembly Period.

Tuesday last the University was given a double treat at the Assembly period, in the address of Miss Parsons, on "American Humorists of the Past Half-Century," and in a different manner in a number of violin selections by Mrs. Ralph M. Henderson, who kindly consented to come to the University, and play for the students and faculty.

Mrs. Henderson was assisted in this by Mr. Seder, and her masterful playing evoked numerous breaks of applause from the audience present, which repeatedly encored, to all of which she graciously acceded.

Mrs. Henderson's fame as a violinist is well known to the University, and on any occasion that she consents to visit the Institution, she is assured of a warm welcome, and a large and appreciative audience.

BREAST AND BACK STROKES NOW.

New York, Oct. 28. — Breast and back stroke races, each for fifty yards, will be new events on the program of the intercollegiate swimming championships next year. If they are found productive of keen competition, the Intercollegiate Swimming Association, which met here yesterday to consider rulings and elect officers, probably will decide to have the two swims displace the plunge for distance in the dual meets.

D. A. WORCESTER ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

"Attitude of Foreigner Toward American" Treated in Instructive, Interesting Manner.

Tuesday's morning assembly was the recipient of an address by Professor D. A. Worcester, head of the University's Department of Psychology and Philosophy, on the subject of "The Attitude of the Foreigner Toward the American."

Much Traveled Man.

Professor Worcester is a widely-traveled man, having been stationed in the Philippines for a couple of years, in charge of educational work, he being the nephew of the famous Dean C. W. Worcester, American Commissioner of Education in the Islands. In addition to this, Professor Worcester has traveled in Japan, China, and the Orient, as well as through Europe, particularly Italy, Germany and France, and so is well qualified to speak on the subject he chose for his address.

Americans Much Disliked.

Professor Worcester began his talk by showing how the sympathy of most of the world in the present Europe war lay with the Allies against Germany, and declared that precisely the same qualities that were making Germany disliked by the rest of the world, i. e., ignorance of other nations, conceit, overbearing attitude, etc., were having the same effect toward the American traveler.

Ignorance One Cause.

The first cause, he declared, lay in the ignorance of the average American. Most of them do not know the location of their own possessions, let alone foreign countries. He cited an instance of a large New York firm consigning shipments to the Philippines and Porto Rico in the same bundle, thinking the two close together! Americans are very provincial and clannish in their travels. They stay together and do not mingle with foreigners in their travels, which has the effect of turning the foreigner against them. Prof. Worcester proceeded to show how our Diplomatic Service in foreign countries was at fault, reading a few extracts, showing how the European-Ambassador was a man thoroughly acquainted with the language, customs and habits of the people with whom he represented his own country, and then showing how, on the other hand, the average American Representative was chosen, not for his accomplishments and acquaintance with the country to which he was sent, but mainly for the reason that he had a political "pull" or had contributed heavily towards the campaign expenses of a successful office-seeker.

The only wonder that ever occurred to him, he stated, was that America was not always plunged in war with some country or other, through its "Misrepresentatives" abroad.

Irreverence or Disrespect.

The egotism of the average American abroad made him condescending toward the people of the country through which he was traveling, and act towards them, their nation, customs, etc., with an air of great superiority which is, of course, irritating

SEDER REPRESENTS VARSITY IN CONCERT

Features Strongly in Farewell Concert to Mrs. Ada-Pierce Winn by Local Artists.

Since his arrival to take charge of the Department of Music at the University, E. Stanley Seder has demonstrated his fitness for and value to the place in many different ways, but in none more prominently than was displayed last week, in the farewell concert given at the Presbyterian Church by local and former local artists, in honor of Mrs. Ada-Pierce Winn.

Five Artists Perform.

Five artists in their respective lines, Mr. Seder, Organist; Mrs. Ralph Henderson, Violinist; Messrs. Chas. Andrews and Thomas Christian, and Mrs. Ada Pierce-Winn, Singers, participated, and the concert was thoroughly enjoyed every minute by the large audience present, which filled the church proper, as well as the adjoining Sunday School room, and the gallery.

Mr. Seder opened the concert with the "Triumphant March" from Aida, and improvised for the encore variations from the "Last Rose of Summer". Needless to say, both were up to his high standard. In addition to this, he played all the accompaniments for the other artists, besides giving two other solos, "Allegro con Brio" by Rogers, and "Gavotte" from Mignon.

Credit to University.

Ever since his career as a student in the University, Mr. Seder has aided in bringing the Institution to the creditable gaze of the public. Not only in musical lines, but in others, as Editor of the Weekly, and member of the Varsity Debating Team, he has done his part to advertise the Institution in a way to do good, and now, as head of the Department of Music, he is getting down to work.

The University Orchestra is proving itself an excellent feature of the University's activities, and its performances are afforded great pleasure at different periods. It is expected to be a big feature of the State Teachers' Association, which meets here during Thanksgiving week, and from all indications, will play a large part in making enjoyable and profitable, this large annual gathering of educators.

The U. N. M. Band met the returning football team at the train Tuesday night; the remainder of the student body assisted with songs and yells. A warmer welcome could not have been given a winning team.

to the peoples, and does not enhance their love for the United States. Prof. Worcester showed how by the appellation of certain nicknames towards foreigners, we showed our belief in our superiority, and declared that most of it was founded on our own ignorance.

All Are Human.

He closed his address with an appeal for a better spirit on the part of the American toward the foreigner. Treat them like the human beings they are, and they will reciprocate. If we desire to hold the good will and respect of the world, we should at least show them the same courtesy and respect that we expect from them.

FRATERNITY MATERIAL.

What is fraternity material? How often out of the innumerable times that they have this question put to them, can fraternity people really express in words what it is that the fraternity demands in the way of quality? They know fraternity material when they meet it, but they find it hard to tell just exactly what it is.

Is it position—family? No, because we have known of several instances where daughters of prominent men have not been sorority girls, in the schools they attended. Is it money? Indeed, it is not. We can all tell of instances of the children of wealthy parents not receiving a fraternity bid. Just what, then, is it?

By close observation and thought on the subject we think we have discovered just what makes a student "fraternity material". It is his ability to contribute something to the chapter. Of course fraternities are often fooled in judging rushees. But they are always sincere in thinking that a member is going to be an asset to them, as a scholar, a mixer, a promoter of college activities or an influence for good inside the chapter. Then also, every chapter has certain social obligations, just as every family has. There must be somebody in the chapter who is willing to "lend his fair presence" at the functions where the fraternity is to be represented. There are, many times, fewer persons like this in the chapter than one would imagine. This is an age, too, where personality counts for a great deal in the fraternity as well as in the outside world.

So we might almost say that the word SERVICE is the open sesame to membership in a fraternity. If you have anything the fraternity wants, the fraternity wants you. And the things that the fraternity wants are, after all, pretty practical things.—Banta's Greek Exchange.

ARMY-NAVY GAMES ARE ASSURED FOR 5 YEARS

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The annual army and navy football games are assured for the next five years, it was announced here tonight. The game this year will be played in Philadelphia, November 28.

Under the agreement finally reached by the athletic councils of the West Point and Annapolis academies, each will alternately select the site for the game, the choice this year going to the navy.

Get Your License.

According to the state law, "Doves" are game birds and the season is still open.

EXPULSION STUDENTS FROM WASHINGTON

"Gross Immoralities and Diabolical Offenses" Are Charged Youths.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 19.—Expulsion of three men students of the University of Washington for "gross immoralities and diabolical offenses" was announced here today by President Henry Landes. Their names were withheld, but it was said they were members of the freshmen and sophomore classes.

The offenses charged are said to have taken place at a house party at Vashon island, where the men took three girls, whose ages ranged from 15 to 18 years.

Week-end parties at Vashon are "not uncommon" the president says in his statement, some of them being "deliberately planned to indulge in vice and wrongdoing."

The island is a large one, lying between Seattle and Tacoma.

"PEGS"

The ladies' riding club which is to be known as "The Pleasurable Order of Pegs," held its election on Monday. This is a club organized especially for ladies of the University, to whom the active membership is restricted. The associate membership is open to down-town ladies, or to those of the Varsity who will find it impossible to attend every flight. A small fee will be charged for every absence of an active member.

The following are the officers of the Order with their most honorable titles:

Miss Ethel A. Hickey—Royal Belierophon, or Master of the Horse.
Miss Thelma Loudon—Noble Finder of the Chimaera, or Scout.

Miss Mary Cooper—Royal Keeper of the Golden Bridle, or Treasurer.

Miss Laura McCollum—Noble Custodian of the Manger, or Steward.

Miss Adelaide Shields—Noble Welder of the Quirt, or Secretary.

The first flight of the Pegs was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

PIERROT REJECTED.

The moment's past—
With sudden grace
The mask you cast
Aside replace.
The violin,
The clarionette,
Again begin.
Forget Pierrette
And debonair
Upon the sleeve
Seem still to wear
The heart you leave.
What tho the eerie
Tune grow false?
What tho you weary
Of the waltz?
You're still Pierrot
To all the rest.
So smiling go
With idle jest.
None but Pierrette
Sees through the role
Woe's silhouette
Against your soul.

A little while
To feign delight,
A little while,
And then the night
Will whisper thru
The stars that set:
"Pierrot, adieu,
Adieu, Pierrette."
—Will Francis in Ainslee's.

His Plan.

To dodge his creditors required
Such vigilance and vim,
A motor car he went and hired,
And now they're dodging him!

President Boyd leaves tonight for a short business trip in Taos. He will continue his trip to Oklahoma, Kansas City and other points.

RIFLE SHOOTING AS A COLLEGE SPORT

Over 5,000 College Marksmen Last Year—"Aggies" Win Both Championships.

Over five thousand college marksmen is the record for the college year ending June 30th, 1914. Through the combined efforts of the National Rifle Association of America and the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, rapid strides are being made looking to the introduction of rifle shooting as one of the recognized sports in the colleges throughout the country and the movement has been still further stimulated by a recent act of Congress authorizing the free issue of rifles and ammunition to college and university rifle clubs.

This work was begun several years ago by the National Rifle Association backed by the War Department with a result that at the present time there are 42 colleges and universities having well organized and active rifle clubs. National championships are now being carried on annually both indoor and outdoor. The annual competition for college teams is now being organized for the indoor season. These matches are shot on indoor ranges with 22-caliber rifles. The championship for 1914 was won by the Michigan "Aggies" and the outdoor championship was won by the Massachusetts "Aggies".

As an evidence of the fact that the athletic authorities of a great many colleges and universities, are recognizing marksmanship as a part of their athletic curriculum, many of them are giving the college letter to those students who make the rifle teams.

A feature of this work which is worthy of mention is the fact that there have been no serious accidents of any kind on rifle ranges since the work was introduced, a claim that could hardly hold good in connection with other prominent school sports such as football and baseball. Furthermore, only a small percentage of students can take part in baseball and football matches, while the number of students who can enter shooting competitions is only limited to the capacity of the range.

In addition to competing against each other in rifle matches, college clubs are given annually a medal for a members' competition by the National Rifle Association. Decorations are also presented to club members by the War Department for qualifying as expert, sharpshooter and marksman. The college which made the best showing in the number of students qualified for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1914, was Cornell University. The rifle club which made the best showing in the number of qualifications was the Minnesota University Rifle Club which qualified 96 marksmen, 11 sharpshooters and 19 experts.

At the camps of instruction for college students held during the summer, rifle shooting was one of the courses of military training laid down. At these camps 31 students qualified as experts, 114 sharpshooters and 219 as marksmen. The National Rifle Association of America presented a cup for an intercollegiate team competition and also a medal for the student making the highest score at each camp. The cup was won by Cornell University whose four men scored 854. The University of California was second with 809 and the University of Minnesota third with 782. The high score men in each camp were as follows:

Burlington, H. C. Newberry of Colgate University; Asheville, Wm. W.

Search; Ludington, Theron G. Bethven, University of Minnesota; and Presidio of Monterey, Hacourt Blades, University of California.

Information concerning the organization of such clubs may be secured from the Secretary of the National Rifle Association of America, 1108-9-10 Woodward Building, Washington, D. C.

INFANTS TO EDIT WEEKLY.

Freshman Class to Take Entire Charge of Next Issue; Potassium Permanganate Recommended as Antidote.

Way back in the dark ages, some editor of the U. N. M. Weekly, with an eye to the comfort of the editorial staff, devised the scheme of turning over to the Frosh once in each year the responsibility of one number of the Weekly. It was a mighty good scheme; it afforded the hard-working and long-suffering staff the opportunity of a week's vacation; the babies seemed to enjoy it; nobody kicked but the linotype operator, and he, as he puts it, is paid to worry; so the custom has survived, and this year's bunch of children, being no less curious to see the inside workings of the college paper than were the previous ones, have nerved themselves to the Herculean task of preparing just one number of the Varsity's most classic sheet.

Even now members of the—oh, brainless, nameless, insignificant, slimy, slushy, obnoxious, inhuman, crude, uncouth, hybrid, scummy—class of 1918, are deeply engrossed in the problem of procuring enough copy to fill four pages; one is likely to come across one of these animals in some remote cranny of the buildings or campus, scratching his pivot-like skull with the sharp end of an indelible pencil in a mighty effort to think of something with enough point to it to be called a joke; one upperclassman with an observing eye even caught one of these hayseeds bending over a large chart with a number of mysterious marks upon it, which, when deciphered, were found to be what is commonly called a pun. Instructors who have classes of freshmen should not be surprised if the recitations are a little bit worse, or the faces of the class are a little more vacant than usual; there's a reason.

The regular staff of the Weekly has but one suggestion to make: that is, to have a few hundred grains of potassium permanganate handy before trying to read this issue. Potassium permanganate, together with a liberal dose of whiskey, will render the bite of a centipede, scorpion, etc., harmless, and might possess enough potency to counteract the effects of the Freshman Weekly.

The class last Wednesday elected Lee Walker editor of the Freshman Wheeze, with George White, Marjorie Stowell, Louise Lowber, Elinor McDonough, L. J. Claiborne and C. K. Parker as various associates and assistants.

While we're at it let's buy a bale of happiness by doing good to others.

Poor Glen had to give an account of everything he said, thought or did, while on the trip. He balked at the first named.

If it hadn't been for Figi, little Oscar would have been awfully lonesome while Pat was gone.

Little Gertrude was very much alarmed when, on opening the store room at Hokona, she found a full-fledged, five-rattled rattler sitting on the threshold greeting her with open jaws. Dennis let Bud II kill it, as a further measure of discipline.

As a special concession, Bud II was allowed to come over to Hokona on Sunday afternoon and black the shoes of all the inmates. May it be said to his credit that he did it gracefully and cheerfully.

Some things are worse than others, but there is just one thing worse than Roswell; that is Santa Fe.

The team was variously and numerously entertained while in Roswell by Annie Laurie, Jess, Sadie, Florence and others. Hutch's ten o'clock bed time regulation was the only bar to an even better time than was had.

Irene Smith of Portales and Coq Greenfield of Dexter were in Roswell for the game. Miss Smith, however, was forced to return home Sunday, before the game was played.

Mrs. M. Higgins and daughter, Marie, returned to Albuquerque Tuesday night from Newport, Ky., where they spent the summer.

"The first flight of the Pegs" resulted most disastrously for the organization's most prominent member. Miss Hickey is confined to her home with a sprained ankle due to a mishap during the trip.

SATURDAY'S FOOTBALL

Brown Bewildered.

New York, Oct. 24.—Cornell defeated Brown here today, 28 to 7. Cornell's line plunging and end running attack bewildered Brown. In the final quarter Brown scored a touchdown by a skillfully mixed attack in which the forward pass was used repeatedly.

Army Won Easily.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The Army defeated Holy Cross today, 14 to 0. The visitors showed unexpected strength on the defense and twice during the first half the Army was held on the visitors' 1-yard mark.

FLOATERS.

One of the social problems of America today is the unskilled worker who gets the drifting habit. He never has a steady job and in time, if he continues the pernicious habit, he becomes incapable of holding one if he does have it. He usually sinks to the level of trampdom and finally may become a hobo.

A large number of religious floaters are also abroad in the land. Sometimes they are broad minded folks who "go to all the churches."

One of the regions perils of student life is this "free lance habit." Students come from the narrower limits of home life into the larger freedom which college life affords and too often the constraint of steady habit is thrown off and the tramp habit begins.

It is well enough to "visit all the churches," most of them are certainly worth visiting. But if the religious life of a student is to be of any value whatever it must be conserved by tying up to some steady religious job and sticking to it.

The drifting habit is a sponging habit. Culture of any kind can only come by giving as well as receiving. We grow symmetrically, only as we work.

Therefore we want to exhort every student in Fairmount to select some church and not only attend regularly but if possible get into some activity connected with it.

Do this, and when you finally return to your homes you will not, as is often the case, be found to have lost your religion getting your education.

Perhaps it is to the toss of a coin that Abel Kiviat may give thanks for having saved his one-mile title in the recent Metropolitan championship track and field meet. During the past year the Gordon brother of Yonkers have become Kiviat's strongest rivals. Will Gordon is the better of the two brothers and defeated Kiviat in the race for the Baxter mile last winter. Both Will and Fresland Gordon are employed by the same man. While one runs the other has to work. When the day for the race drew near the brothers tossed a coin and Fresland won the toss. Kiviat won from him with a margin of only twelve yards.

It is expected that Brickley will be on the side lines at the stadium tomorrow during practice. It was said last night that he probably would help in coaching the drop kickers later, but that he would not play in any games this season.
