AMATEUR MINISTERS TAKE CALKINS' PLACE

Students Given Charge of Services in Belen.

For a time it seemed that Tom Calkins would be unable to go with the team on the Arizona-Cruces trip. Tom, as you know, holds down the job of pastor in the Methodist church at Belen. He usually leaves Albuquerque every Saturday evening and after conducting the services on Sunday he returns early Monday morning and digs into his school work.

On the football trip to Colorado, Professor Landers kindly accepted to fill the pulpit in Mr. Calkins' place. In this he succeeded admirably.

When the time arrived for leaving on the last trip it looked as if Tom would find it necessary to go to Belen instead of Tucson. However, he fell upon the brilliant idea of sending a few students in his place, a gospel team as it were. After a little consideration he asked four students to officiate. They were Earl Gearhart, George Savage, John Fernstrom and Marshall Wilson.

After a little persuasion the candidates promised to perform the duty. Not because they thought themselves especially fitted for this capacity, but in order that the squad might benefit by Tom's assistance.

Tom arranged for a car to take the would-be ministers to Belen. However, when Sunday morning arrived and the fellows met at the determined place, no car appeared. An unforeseen circumstance had rendered it impossible for the volunteer to get his car. Then followed frantic efforts to get another driver. However, all efforts were in vain. Johnnie Scruggs tried his hardest to get some student to furnish a means of conveyance. Being unable to draft anyone, Mr. Scruggs had to resort to a taxi. This meant a considerable expense, but it was necessary that the fellows fill their obligations both with the congregation and with Tom.

The amateur evangelists arrived in Belen in time for Sunday School, and George Savage taught Mr. Calkins' class while the others worked on their "sermons." Earl Gearhart gave a talk in the morning on his experiences at the Students' Y. M. C. A. conference, while John Fernstrom had charge of the service.

In the afternoon the fellows spent their time in preparing for the evening meeting. Mr. Wilson conducted the Epworth League, supported by his co-workers.

The theme in the evening was on Thanksgiving and was in the hands of Mr. Gearhart. Wilson, Savage and Fernstrom gave short talks on the topic of the day and special music was rendered by George Savage and Earl Gearhart.

The quartet left for Albuquerque at nine and felt quite relieved in that their first attempt in the pulpit had been attended by a fair degree of success. As one of them said, "We did not exactly stage a revival at Belen but all feel that we at least are the better off for our experience."

U. N. M. HOOLIGANS PLAY SENSATIONAL GAME

Patented Plays Fail to Fill Their Guarantees.

In a game that was full of comedy and jazz the Indians defeated the Hooligans in the Varsity sector last Saturday. When the last whistle blew and the cigarette smoke had cleared away the score was 14-0. And if the Varsity timekeeper hadn't given A. W. O. L. it might have been less. Capt. Blanco White starred for the Hooligans, and old heads say his knee work was wonderful. Quarterback Hite used his head to great advantage, finally remembering the signals and during the game used three of them.

The Tanlac formation didn't have the kick it was thought to possess, and the pep to put it over was missing. The Statue of Liberty play fell down. However the Indians fell for Lydia Pinkham and the Hooligans almost scored.

Bish Howden was the star of the line. Without moving his feet he repeatedly blocked all kicks.

Albers was only in the game for a few minutes, but showed the wonderful effects of tobacco on a football player.

Angles kicking was good. He had something to say about every decision. Davis' interference was also good, he tried to tell the quarter how to run the team.

Gionl carried the ball back consistently, but claimed that the goal was in that direction.

Moore's passing was fine; he didn't hit a man.

Hyder was wounded in the Toul Sector and was forced to go to the rear, which he did uttering words that had to do with the future life of the man who kicked him.

MANY SWEET CO-EDS GIVE DANCE IN RODEY

Girls Decide That Masculine Clothes Do Not Make the Man.

Do boys make a dance a success? I should say not! The co-eds of the University proved this most decidedly last Saturday night at the co-ed dance given at Rodey hall. The girls provided their own escorts. Half of the girls dressed as boys and escorted the rest of the girls. The boys dormitory nobly came to the rescue with suitable clothing for the fair escorts.

Gobs and soldiers were there in plenty, but civies were not lacking. There were also girls, large and small, old and young.

One of the special features of the dance was a hornpipe very gracefully rendered by the masculine element of the dance. Then there was a grand march and the girls were given little favors. Later every one retired to the Domestic Science rooms, where all were amply fed with coffee and sandwiches.

Those deserving special mention for their costumes and the carrying out of their parts are, Dorothy Stevenson, Betty Morrisette and Elizabeth Hill. Dot, with her cootie garage, could be taken for a man anywhere, and Betty can put on a manly stride and look truly masculine. Jack Hill surprised this sedate school with a most striking costume in navy blue and white. What was it?

LIMITED TREASURY MAY CUT BASKETBALL

Football Deficit Drains Finances of Athletic Fund.

Due to the deficit in the Athletic treasury from the football season the fate of basketball hangs in balance.

Upon giving an order for the amount required in sending the relief men to El Paso, Professor Weese made the statement that the prospects for a trip in basketball were doubtful.

However, due to the necessity of formulating a tentative schedule the manager has negotiated with the usual schools for games to be played early in March. As a result, there are contracts pending at the present time. No definite action can be taken before the suggested constitution is accepted or rejected and a definite report of our finances are given.

NEW TENNIS COURTS.

President Hill has announced that he has authorized Mr. Frank, the campus superintendent, to proceed at once with the building of three new tennis courts which are to be east of the swimming pool.

The increasing interest in the healthful outdoor game of tennis upon the part of the students warrants this extension of facilities for the game.

CHEEK DANCING.

"Nothing but cheek dancing will be allowed." Rather startling to be heard in Rodey Hall? This was only one of the many sensational things which occurred at the annual co-ed dance last Saturday evening.

Every other co-ed was chosen to dress as a man, who would take one of her schoolmates to the party. Army and navy uniforms were utilized and so were extra civilian suits of brothers' friends, and any one whose clothes would fill the bill. Swagger sticks, mustaches and military decorations, also Bull Durham sacks hanging from blouse pockets, all lent an air of mannishness.

According to rumor a great many young hearts were broken. These handsome beaus had taking ways with the women. Many proposals of marriage were made as the result of the party. It is understood that Miss Mosher, who officiated at the party, was proposed to three times, and three times did she accept.

The Y. W. C. A. of the University staged this delightful and unique party, with Miss Helen MacArthur in charge.

FRESHMAN LINE-UP.

The class scrap is on Saturday, December 4. Are you ready for the fray?

Get in your practice togs for a few minutes of wind practice. In other words, trim up a little for the Sophomore rope tie; and girls, are you ready for your tug of war?

Miriam Schiebe entertained the active Alpha Chi Omega girls and Miss Shelton, librarian, at her home, Rio Grande Industrial School, over the week-end.

LOWELL 'LIT' SOCIETY HOLDS SECOND MEETING

At 12:30 last Monday, the reorganized Literary and Debating Society held its second meeting in the Seminar room.

After some discussion it was finally decided that the society be called "The Lowell Literary Society." The next order of business was the election of further officers. The list of officers now reads:

President, Charlie Cauldwell. Vice-president, Mary Sands. Secretary-treasurer, Walter Berger.

Faculty Critics, Mr. Hessler, Mr. Coan. Notary-doorkeeper, Veon Keich. Reporter, Wilbur Roslington.

Several items of the Constitution were then read and passed upon, but as the time was so limited the society passed on to more immediately important business, this latter being the arrangements of debating contests with Arizona, Texas, and probably Colorado and Southern California.

Letters were read from Arizona and Texas, and it was decided that, providing proper support is given to the society, a debating team will meet the above colleges in debating contests. Subjects for debate are to be decided upon later.

Charlie Cauldwell is trying hard to get the society together. Show some school spirit and get together and help him to organize a real live society. More members are needed. Let's show Arizona that we're still on the literary map!

Notice of next meeting will be posted shortly.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY TO MEET ON DEC. 1

A meeting of the U. N. M. Engineering Society will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 1, in room 6, Practical Mechanics building, promptly at 7:15. The general program for the year will be discussed and many other important things will be considered.

The program committee, consisting of Ralph Brooks and William Heacock, has arranged a very interesting program for the evening. Dean Eyre and probably Ed Ross will give talks to the society.

The society was organized in 1910 to promote the interests of students in engineering but after a few years was dropped. It was reorganized last year by a number of engineering students who felt that such a society would be an asset to the school. A petition has already been sent to the American Association of Engineers, the largest engineering society in the world, asking for a student charter.

All men who have joined the society or who desire to should be present as this will be their last chance to become charter members of the State University of New Mexico Student Chapter of the American Association of Engineers.

ACTIVE-PROGRESSIVE-EFFICIENT.

A. A. E. Makes engineers professional men. It gives its members standing in the profession.

A. A. E. is the one universal, all-inclusive engineers' society of America.

Members of A. A. E. are better workers and professional men, as many employers have testified.

A. A. E. employment service, billing now about 300 positions a month, will gradually stabilize employment conditions in the profession.

THREE RELIEF MEN SENT TO EL PASO

On Monday morning Assistant Manager Fernstrom received a wire from George Bryan asking that Hyder, Hernandez and Boldt be sent to El Paso. It also requested that Angle be sent in case Hernandez had not recovered from his illness.

Hyder's knee was severely injured in the scrub game Saturday making it impossible for him to go. Hernandez was still confined to his bed, consequently it was decided to send Boldt, Angle and White. They left on the El Paso train Monday morning and met the team that evening in El Paso.

Sigma Chi Dance.

The pledges of Beta Xi of Sigma Chi will entertain the members of the Active Chapter with a dance on Saturday, November 27.

The dance will be given in the chapter house. The dances and decorations will be on the order of Thanksgiving. The outside guests will be Dr. Harris, Maynard Hempstead, George Sampson, Steward MacArthur.

PLAYS ARE PRESENTED BY DRAMATIC CLUB

Teacher Guests See "The Neighbors" and "The Florist Shop."

Under the auspices of the University Dramatic club two one-act plays, "The Neighbors" and "The Florist Shop," were presented recently in Rodney Hall for the delegation of the N. M. E. A. A large, interested, albeit somewhat restless audience filled the hall, and crowds were turned away.

The first play is a general study of the types that have followed the parallels of latitude from their original habitat in New England and settled in Michigan, Wisconsin and elsewhere.

Although in a pronounced southern accent, Marvin Crawford played Ezra amusingly; Fred Wagner and Mary McMullin, with grandma in the person of Helen Lindsey hovering between them, made a naive and pretty curtain; Laura Crawford ironed and complained quite realistically; and the reviewer's back still aches from limping sympathetically across the stage with Mary Sands. At the sentimental close Clarissa Parsons forgot her grief in the common realization that all had been brought closer together in the binding tie of neighborliness by a simple act of charity.

The second play, "The Florist Shop," a pretty idyll of city life, tells the story of an elderly couple, suffering from a fifteen-year engagement, finally brought together through the effective but officious assistance of the slangy, ungrammatical florist's clerk.

Ada Belle Travis presented an amusing combination of New York accent, gum-chewing and sympathetic tears. She was the good angel of the piece, and besides being the successful manipulator of an elderly romance, prevented Mr. Slovisky, admirably played by George Hite, from discharging her and incidentally ruining his trade. Joe Bursey, as Henry, hovered usefully in the background, at times voicing his manly disapproval of Maude's lachrymose sentimentality. Emma Gerhardt elicited many a laugh with her quiet, humorous touches, and Earl Gerhardt played her stodgy and (until the last) mercenary fiancé with appropriate stiffness. The curtain went down on Maude, still sympathetic and gum-chewing, and Slovisky smirking and rubbing his hands at the prospect of a wedding and high-priced orchids and orange blossoms.

MANY FORMER STUDENTS ARE VISITORS ON HILL

Faculty Members Address the Convention.

A number of the teachers attending the Educational Association, which was held in Albuquerque, have been visitors on the campus. The plays which were given Monday afternoon at Rodey hall also brought quite a number of teachers to the University who probably would not have come otherwise. Several of the University faculty members have delivered lectures at the teachers' meetings and the library exhibit proved to be a source of interest to many.

Several old University students who are now teaching were also seen on the campus during Thanksgiving week.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL

The first regular meeting of the Spanish Club will be held in Rodey hall Wednesday evening at 7:45. After all the business matters were attended to, the members enjoyed a short musical program and later in the evening refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the club will be held December 2. An interesting program has been arranged including a speaker and several musical numbers. All the members are invited to attend.

PHI MU AT HOME TO PATRONESSES

Phi Mu was at home Sunday afternoon to patronesses and invited guests. A dainty luncheon was served and about 50 ladies called during the afternoon. Mrs. Ada Winn sang several selections. Margaret Harde-man was in charge of the tea.

A. A. E. Chapter of Albuquerque is giving a banquet at Y. M. C. A. Saturday, December 4. All student engineers are invited.

The annual dinner of the honor society of Phi Kappa Phi has been arranged for 6:15 p. m. Tuesday, December 7, at the Country Club. Dr. Edgar Hewitt is to read a paper following the dinner.

THE ARIZONA GAME ENDS IN DEFEAT

Lobos Outplay Tigers Until the Fourth Quarter.

Many Injuries Among Players Cause Breaks in Last Half.

Due to the fact that our special correspondent and our leased wire failed to make the proper connections the details of the New Mexico-Arizona game are not at present available.

The Varsity was the first to score, making a touchdown early in the first period. Shortly after L. Gersp-hiede was injured, although he stayed in the game, he was very much weakened and was unable to play up to his standard.

The Wildcats were unable to score until the last quarter. Whitten, the pivot man in the line, was put out of play with a sprained ankle, and Arizona proceeded to put play after play through the weakened center of the line until they had piled up 28 points. The final score was, Arizona 28, New Mexico 7.

This week the Lobos are training in El Paso preliminary to the Thanksgiving Day game with the State College of Agriculture.

Boldt, White and Angle have been sent to El Paso to replace those who will be unable to play Thursday.

With the team weakened the Farmers will be able to hold the Varsity to a much closer score, although unless something unforeseen happens the Lobos will bring home the bacon.

GEOLOGY CLASS MAKES FIELD TRIP

On Monday afternoon of this week the first local field trip of the year was taken by the class in Geology I. It was in the form of a rather extended walk over the mesa to the north and west of the campus, the object of which was to learn something of the structural features of the formations and deposits in this part of the valley, and to learn something of the materials involved in their formations.

First the students were asked to take note of the general features of the slope east of the river, and then of that west of the river. Samples of the soil were then examined and also the kinds of rock found. Lower down on the slope a study was made of a section of an eroded cliff, as to the nature and extent of the succeeding layers of deposit which have been left down there by the action of water during past ages. The structure and relative position of these deposits were very distinctly shown, and afforded an excellent opportunity for obtaining first hand knowledge about the surface structure of this locality. The class was asked to observe the difference between the materials found on the higher levels of the slope and those found lower down. During the last part of the trip the students made a study of a portion of the eroded terrace bordering the flood plain of the river, and noticed the kind of material composing these deposits and the structure and arrangement of the different layers.

The trip afforded a considerable amount of data for a report on the geological history and structure of the country adjacent to Albuquerque.

CECIL M. COOPER.

FOUR GIRLS MOTOR FROM LOWER PECOS

Former University Girls Make Extended Trip.

Frances Bear, Floryda Sain, Edna Miller and Maude Rogers, all of Roswell, drove up from there last week. They intend to stay until next week. They are all former students of the U. N. M. It is probable that Frances Bear and Floryda Sain will return to the University after Christmas.

The girls will be here for the Thanksgiving Day game and for the Sigma Chi pledge dance.

The engineers are organized and have applied to the American Association of Engineers for a charter. A drive is to be started for members. Every student engineer is eligible to membership. Join now and be a charter member.

Miss Evelyn Hunt of Raton, another former University student, is in town this week.

Belle Barton is out again after a serious illness of several weeks.

Miss Ogle, who represented Roswell in the state declamatory contest, was a guest at the Phi Mu house.

THE NEED OF AN AUDITORIUM.

We were hosts to the N. M. E. A. last Monday and hoped to create a favorable impression for the University. The entertainment was of a high class and those students who aided in this entertainment acquitted themselves splendidly. After all, we are very much afraid of the impression that we made. Over one hundred teachers, after climbing the "no man's land" of East Central, were unable to even get inside Rodey Hall, while twice that number stood crowded on the steps endeavoring to get one glimpse or hear one word of the plays. This is not an uncommon occurrence. As our Alma Mater grows and men of note come among us to lecture, this condition is going to grow monotonous. The crying need of this University is an auditorium that will serve the purpose. We believe the next legislature will appropriate a sum for the erection of a memorial to those soldiers who sleep in France from the Sunshine State. We hope it will not be in the form of a leaden statue or a molten monument. How much more appropriate would be the erection of an auditorium at our State University, bearing a bronze tablet with the names of our fallen heroes and standing not simply to please the eye, but erected to SERVE this fair state in the many years to come.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

In a hurried assembly, the students almost adopted a name for our paper without giving the matter a thought or consideration. We believe the name of this paper should be changed, but are unwilling to have it designated by a name which is not typical or suitable. We are blest with a style of architecture which differentiates us from all other state universities. We are the only Pueblo university. We believe the name of this weekly should be a name that is unique, peppy, and in harmony with our surroundings. It was clearly demonstrated that the name "The Lob" is held in bad repute. The wolf is a cowardly animal with few noble traits. Let us unite in finding a name that will answer the purpose. If we are unable to find a better name, why change?

HAVE WE BECOME A MONASTERY?

We are opposed to pink teas and turning the University into a dancing and fustling academy. We believe that students come to school to learn and this object must be accomplished. We believe the men should be cultivated to be big, flustered and have real backbones. Yet after our college days are over, what better memories can we have than recalling that tennis game with Vernon or that stroll with Katherine. We do not believe that the rules are too strict nor is this article directed against any one. We feel sure that our president favors the associating of the students as long as such is proper. For the past few months, with the exception of half a dozen of our students, our University reminds us of our fourth grade school in the hills where a dead line divided the playground with the boys on one side and the girls on the other. There are scores of girls at the Hokena that hardly know a boy in school and are thinking what a dead place this is. There are equally that number of boys who are practically unacquainted with the girls. These people must be DRAFTED. The social life of a college must not die. We must not become a monastery!

A FEW MORE GATES, PLEASE.

When our big football game with Roswell was over, hundreds of cars jammed and surged for an hour to get out the little gate of our football field. To the author's knowledge there were four semi-serious accidents. Why in the name of common sense couldn't we have three or four gates to care for this property?

Ask Lorraine Cleveland why she was so pleased on seeing the Humoresque this week. Was it because she is so strong an advocate for home rule in Ireland?

"I hear you don't believe in the 'Ten Commandments,'" said the orderly to the swager private. "Not one, sir," was the reply. "What! Not the rule about keeping the Sabbath?" "No, sir."

"Good. You're the very man I've been looking for to scrub out the canteen."

A man in one of the infantry regiments in No Man's Land was taking up as little room in a shell hole as possible during a hot fight. With everything singing overhead. At last a German shell landed right in the hole with him, but did not go off. As soon as he recovered from his fright and could think again, he took a look at the shell and found it was a dud (a shell with a defective fuse which does not explode). Next he noticed the number of the shell and being peculiar. It was 1,217,413. He reached inside his shirt and pulled out his identification tag. The number which stared him in the face was 1,217,413. He walked out of the shell hole and back to his lines with the bullets singing all about him but was not hit. He reported to his commanding officer with a salute and a smile. "Captain," he said, "ask me to do anything now. They had one with my number on it, and it was a dud."

A little demon in defense,
Brave as a lion he;
I wish I had the courage
Of this atom on my knee.

A little universe of love,
Unselfish as the sea;
I wish-I did by others
As he has done by me.

A little lump of loyalty,
No power could turn from me;
I wish I had a heart as true,
From fear and favor-free.

A little fountain full of faith,
Forgiveness, charity;
I wish I had his patience
And true nobility.

A little flash of fire and life,
Whate'er the summons be;
I wish that I could face the world
With half his energy.

A little white fox-terrier,
In whose brown eyes I see
The windows of a faithful soul
Too large to live in me.

Kappa Tau.
The active chapter of Gamma Beta of Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained Saturday, November 20, with a tea at the Vaughney home in honor of Miss Katherine Conway, who was recently married to Mr. "Biff" White.

The little Misses Shortle admitted the guests. In the receiving line were Miss Wilma Snyder, Miss Alexander Vaughney, Miss Joy Spruce and Miss Katherine Conway.

The dining room looked very pretty. Pink tulle was draped over the chandelier to the four corners of the table and delicate sweet peas were caught here and there in the tulle. In the center of the table was a bouquet of beautiful pink roses.

Mrs. Margaret Medler and Miss Theresa Vaughney presided at the table and were assisted by Miss Helen Stowell, Miss Lorraine Cleveland and Miss Gale Beckman.

Mrs. Pat Conway, Mrs. W. C. Reed, Miss Helen MacArthur, Miss Lorena Burton and Miss Irene Fee assisted in the living room.

About sixty guests enjoyed the hospitality of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Ted Pats left for home yesterday for the twelfth time in three days.

"We were certainly shocked to see a few students lose enough of their dignity to play the handkerchief the other noon. Especially on perceiving a member of the administration as one of the participants.

A telephone "trouble shooter," after being out all day, was called out the same evening to establish communication between a near-by estate and the city. Upon arrival at the estate, the "trouble shooter" soon discovered that a fuse in the lighting arrester had blown out; and he reported to the proprietor: "Just a fuse blew out."

"That's so," said the proprietor. "Well, by George, the wind does blow devilish hard out here at times, but I didn't think it could do that."

He called his typist to his office. "Miss Keegan, you dress neatly and you have a well-modulated voice. I might add that your department is also above reproach."

"Thank you very much, sir, but I don't think you should pay me such compliments," answered the blushing girl.

"That's all right," said he. "I was just leading up to the point of telling you that you don't seem to know a comma from a colon, and your spelling is simply rotten."

House for Rent.
A policeman noted for missing no chances said to a prisoner as he was leaving the dock after having been sentenced to six months: "Excuse me, but do you want to let your house while you're away?"

When the Prof. in Econ. asks a simple question, the class looks like a bunch of rookies learning to wig wag.

If the girls can't go to town during the week, the library should at least keep open until ten.

There has been a wonderful improvement in the scenery around the campus this week. It is a shame that the convention does not last longer.

He Knew Better.
"Why don't you get out and hustle? Hard work never killed anybody," remarked the philosophical gentleman to whom a negro had applied for a little charity.

"You're mistaken, dar, boss," replied Rastus. "I've lost foah wives dat way."

A professor of history met one of his class who had returned from fighting on the western front, and asked if he had learned any particular lesson from the war.

"Yes, I have, professor," replied the young man. "I discovered that it is a great deal easier studying history than it is making it."

"Robson, do you know why you are like a donkey?" the jester queried.

"Like a donkey?" echoed Robson, opening his eyes wide. "I don't."

"Because your better half is stubbornness itself."

The jester pleased Robson immensely, for he at once saw the opportunity for a glorious dig at his wife. So when he got home he said: "Dear, do you know why I am like a donkey?"

"He waited a moment, expecting his wife to give up. But she didn't. She looked at him somewhat pityingly as he answered: "I suppose it's because you were born so."

Ought to Be Real!
Sam, the choreman, returned from the city with a scarpin that contained a "diamond" of no usual size. It was the pride of his heart and the envy of his village companions.

His employer asked Sam about it one day: "Sam, is it a real diamond?"

"Wal, said Sam, 'if it ain't I've been skunk out of half a dollar.'"

"Well," said Uncle Si, after a solo by a fashionable church choir tenor, that ain't the roughest thing I ever saw. Just as soon as that young man began to sing, every other member of the choir stopped. But he went through with it. By Jove, I must say I admire his spunk!"

"There are times when I certainly wish I were a man," said his wife. "When, dear?" he asked.

"Why, whenever I pass a milliner's shop and think how happy I could make my wife by giving her a present of a new hat."

Two girls were quarrelling. "You're always saying mean things about people," said one to the other. "The trouble with you is you've got a chauffeur's tongue."

"A chauffeur's tongue?" echoed the other girl.

"Yes," was the answer. "It's always running people down."

"FRENCHIE"
(By Sergeant Frank C. McCarthy, A. E. F.)
I found him in a shell-hole. With a gas across his head, Standing guard beside his master, Tho he knew the boy was dead.

Hell was raining all around us. We could only lie there tight, Got to sort o' like each other Thru the misery of that night.

When I crawled back to the trenches, —And I took his master, too— Frenchie followed. Guess he figured, Just because of that, I'd do.

You wouldn't say he's handsome, Hes been hit a dozen times— But when we boys "go over," Over with us Frenchie climbs.

He has fleas, and I have "cooties." He speaks French; I "no com- pree." So the rule of fifty-fifty Goes between my dog and me.

And when for home I'm starting, If I live to see this through, Just one thing is sure as shooting: That my dog is going, too.

Several men have gone to El Paso for the game. If they fill all orders it will require a freight train to return them.

At that it's cheaper than Lilae.

A Delightful Answer to "What shall I give her?"

TENS of thousands of people have found that our suggestion solves the gift-giving problem. They know that the utmost in chocolates, so daintily packed in artistic redwood boxes, meets an enthusiastic reception on all gift-giving occasions, no ordinary chocolates could receive.

For Quinby's California Chocolate Shop Chocolates are fast becoming the preferred chocolates of fastidious Easterners. And many Foreign lands are coming more and more to know this famous brand as the gift which expresses the utmost compliment.

Such a gift will prove an ideal solution to your gift-giving problems.

KOLLEGE KLIPPINGS

Illinois Puts Ban on Shimmy. Urbana, Ill.—Dances at the University of Illinois lost all popular favor among the student body following the ban placed on the shimmy, the toddle and other objectionable forms of dancing by the Student Union and Woman's League. Attendance has dropped to such an extent that entertainment committees are seriously thinking of eliminating the affairs from their winter program.

From Old Missouri, Elizabeth. The student council of Missouri University has set aside a "hello day" when every student is expected to speak to every other student regardless of formal introductions. The idea is to create a more friendly feeling between the various classes and organizations on the campus.

The Honor of Wisconsin.

The plan for an honor system during examinations as proposed by the Associated Students of Beloit College of Wisconsin has not been accepted by the faculty. Individual professors are to be held responsible for the honor of their respective classrooms.

More Humor.

Clarence—You know that it is now definitely established that there were automobiles in the old Bible days.

Betty—Why, no, how is that?
Clarence—Well, the Bible says that if we are good we shall be taken Home on High. (Exie Clarence.)

The kind and manner of dancing at New Mexico State College this year is to be under the direction of the students themselves. Not the chaperons, but the students, will be responsible for the conformation to set rules concerning dancing set down by the Student Commission.

GRIDIRON DOPE

It has been a toss up between the side-line followers of the game which man has proven to be the greatest asset to the Lobos in the Varsity backfield this year. Those who know inside football still hand it to Tubby, however, as being the most valuable man to the Lobo aggregation. Although new to the position of quarter back he has demonstrated time and again that he has one of the keenest football heads in the Southwest. The manner in which he managed the team on the field against the Institute shows his ability in this line. During the entire game he had shot his passes to the right side of the field, and lead the Institute defense too unconsciously to shift to that side every time they saw a pass formation. When the critical moment came he shot his pass to McArthur who was absolutely open and consequently won the game. It is seldom that such magnificent headwork is displayed on the gridiron. His drop kicking has all through the season been a feature. He seldom fails to place the oval for point when his running attack has failed. In the open field he is dangerous, and on defense he is the hardest and surest tackler ever seen in New Mexico. If every man on the team could run interference as can Mann the Lobos would have a touchdown every play even with Fat Greenleaf carrying the ball. After all it is not the man who makes the sensational gains to whom the credit is due but to the man who makes these gains possible by opening holes and clearing the field.

Louis Gerpheide has shown what a year's experience means to a football man. Last year was the first time he was ever in a football suit, and this year he is said to be one of the greatest fullbacks ever seen in the Southwest. With two more years in which to perfect his playing he will be indeed a great player, and it would be well for the man who picks the All-Southwestern to keep an eye on this man that he doesn't play such a wonderful game that the picker will be forced to make him the all time All-Southwestern fullback as did Walter Camp when he picked Eckstien for All-American quarter back.

Witten at center has shown such fine form of late that he is being mentioned for All-Southwestern. In the Institute game his work on the defense was spectacular. During the past week he has shown what hard hitting really is, laying out a man whenever he has tackled him.

of school for several years has palpitation of the heart whenever a pretty young Kappa pledge appears on the horizon, there is still some hope for us

An depeaking of Kappa pledges, we notice that another one is growing popular of late, especially among the brother of one fraternity.

Sing has quit school for good at last to get a job. It does take money to queen properly we'll admit.

We overheard a dignified Prof. remark that Blanco might amount to something someday if he wasn't so d-d lazy. And we understood that there was to be no more profanity on the hill.

A certain methodical teacher had a regular routine of questions which she asked her class every Sunday. The class was always arranged in the same order, and she began with the same question: "Who made you?" And the boy at the head of the class answered, "God." Then to the next boy, "Who was the first man?" and he answered, "Adam." One Sunday the first boy was absent and of course the usually second boy was at the head of the class. As usual she began by asking, "Who made you?" and the boy answered, "Adam." "No," the teacher said: "God made you." "I don't think so, miss," the boy replied; "the boy that God made is not here today."
