A GOOD BOOK FOR A QUIET EVENING AT HOME

TRIUMVIRATE
By Oliver Robinson
$2.50

A serious novel which has the unique distinction of being an absorbing story, and, at the same time, a searching study of adolescence and college life in a small Mid-Western town. Written by a young professor of English at Vincennes University, who is well acquainted with the milieu of his story.

AND THY MOTHER
By Eula Lawrence
$2.00

The lonely pioneer years in the backwoods of Michigan form the background of this stirring novel. "This is no story of sentimental heroism, it is perhaps but the story of every mother. Strong, moving, it is a book for every parent, for every son, and for every daughter to read."—Houston Press.

AMERICA'S SIN OFFERING
By Henri Zori
$2.00

Unusual in content and unique in modern style, this satire on American bureaucracy is highly amusing as well as significant. Keen, piercing, witty, it will prick your conscience while it tickles your funny bone.

OUR SPANISH JOURNEY
By Molly Rainey Bishop
$2.50

A delightful travel-love story in which the history and art of Spain are presented in charming detail. "There is interest and education galore in this novel of one of the most historical countries in the world."—Boston Traveler.

KOTTABOS
By Zaida Packard Edwards
$2.00

"In a world filled with gloom and tragedy, Zaida Packard Edwards has had the vision to appraise the eternal beauty inherent in the heart of man, an indestructible thing."—Mary Lane, Omaha World-Herald.

COLORADO
By Milford E. Shields
$2.00

A collection of verse which is alive with the breath of the West, and depicts with sincerity and unconcealed love the grandeur and magnificence of Western United States. In beautifully measured lines the poet has caught the beauty of smelters and sunsets, buck privates and peace.

SUMMER BOOK SUGGESTIONS

MILL VILLAGE

By
Alberic A. Archambault

A story of the emigrant Canadian; of his struggle to adapt himself to his new environment in a small New England milltown. Judge Archambault of the Rhode Island Superior Court lived his boyhood in daily contact with the emigres from "up north." He writes with authentic back-

$2.50

INFINITE MAN

By
H. V. Gard

A remarkable work on Metaphysics. A departure from the familiar method of handling this abstract topic; in fact, radically different in its treatment of certain popular conceptions of Man's cosmic origin and destiny.

$2.50

THE AMAZON

By
Charles Ross

Adventure fiction. Every element of this "thriller" keeps the reader going to the FINIS. Mystery, murder, intrigue—and treasure! Set in the vivid exotic background of Mexican locale. And revolving around that extraordinary woman . . . The Amazon!

$2.00

JONATHAN'S APOTHEGMS

By
John Harsen Rhodes

Eighty pages of homely philosophy phrased in punchy epigrammatic style that drives home proven truths and clinches them. Truisms which the author culled from a ripe life experience.

NEW BOOKS OF POETRY

CHEATERS

By
Elizabeth Pinney Hunt
Illustrated by George Pinney Hunt

A new book of verse by a recognized artist of merit; the author of Tongues of Fire and Tendrils and of the poetry of the Main Line Times, Philadelphia. Cheaters, her new work, is poetry that is poignant and moving. The illustrations add a vivid distinction to the distinguished verse.

$1.50

SUFFICIENT WISDOM

By
Arthur MacGillivray, S.J.
A book many will find rich in poetic beauty. A. M. Sullivan, former President of the Poetry Society of America, wrote regarding these poems: "Father Arthur MacGillivray's writings distinguish themselves by their original statement and lyric discipline."

$2.00

OF BITTER GRAPES

By
Emery E. Petho
A first book of poems by a young Catholic poet, the great-grandson of Alexander Petöfi, Hungary's greatest poet. With an introduction by Benjamin Francis Musser.
