Contributors to This Issue

DR. JOHN D. CLARK, head of the chemistry department at the University of New Mexico, has been a frequent contributor to the QUARTERLY.

DR. F. M. KERCHEVILLE, who came to the University of New Mexico from the University of Wisconsin last fall, has been quick to see the opportunities of New Mexico. It is to be hoped that QUARTERLY readers may hear from him often.

DR. JAY C. KNODE, in his experiences as an educator, has been in positions from which he could study to great advantage every phase of the work and its many problems.

DR. EDGAR L. HEWETT is known to QUARTERLY readers. Head of the archaeology department of the University of New Mexico and Director of the School of American Research, he also is recognized everywhere as an authority on Ancient America.

F. M. DENTON, A.G.C.I., F.G.C.I., has been a frequent contributor to the QUARTERLY. He is head of the electrical engineering department of the University of New Mexico.

JOSE GARCIA VILLA is again a contributor to the QUARTERLY. Readers will recall a story written by him for a previous issue. Mr. Villa has just received his bachelor's degree from the University of New Mexico.

MRS. J. B. MONTGOMERY MCGOVERN has traveled widely and studied much abroad. She is a graduate student at the University of New Mexico.
