

1982 Honor Awards — continued

The New Mexico Society of Architects Awards Program is a highly respected tribute to architectural excellence. The selection is made on the basis of design excellence, sensitivity to human and functional needs and to the built environment. The purpose of this Awards Program is to encourage a high level of architecture, recognize the clients and architects who have distinguished themselves by their accomplishments and to inform the public of the high architectural quality being brought to bear in the physical environment.

Honor Award: Renovation

Dietz Farms Plaza
Shopping Center
Albuquerque

A remodeling of a 10 year old shopping center with goals of providing urban scale by use of a monumental wall, auto scale by redesign of the arcade and site to attract the passing motorist, and walking scale to relate to the shopper by providing a shaded and pleasant enclosure. A budget of 70,000 dollars for architectural work and 20,000 for landscaping provided limits which called for priorities to be established to gain the maximum impact.
