CONTRIBUTORS

GINA ALLEN lives in Las Cruces, where her husband is a dairy farmer. She has published books for children and adults, as well as a number of short stories. Her report on The Scoggin Plan is based on thorough acquaintance with her district and its problems.

DORIS BETTS is a young North Carolina housewife with two children, and a husband in law school. She has published short stories in Mademoiselle, Carolina Quarterly, and Virginia Quarterly. A volume of her stories, The Gentle Insurrection, was brought out in 1954.

CHARLES BOEWE is completing his Ph.D. at Wisconsin this year. He has published sketches in Atlantic Monthly and articles and poetry in other journals.

RICHARD C. DAY is working for a doctorate in creative writing at the State University of Iowa. "Run, Papphos," is his first published story.

WILLIAM DE HART, a silversmith and silver designer, lived and worked at his craft in Albuquerque until 1953, when he became Director of Design for the Towle Silversmiths.

ROLAND F. DICKEY was editor and designer of The Missions of New Mexico, 1776 and guided the book through the complexities of manufacture for the University of New Mexico Press. "A magnificent piece of production," commented W. H. Hutchinson in the San Francisco Chronicle, "the finest yet issued by the publisher, an item for the bibliophile, a sensory delight to the layman."

PAUL W. HEALY teaches mathematics at the University of New Mexico, and is faculty sponsor of the Film Society of the University. He has written on films for other publications, and has produced his own teaching films.

SIGURD JOHANSEN is Professor of Sociology and Head of the Department of History and Social Science at New Mexico A & M College. His writings include a number of descriptions of social organization of New Mexico communities.

MICHAEL H. JORRÍN is a graduate student in Cinema at the University of Southern California. In 1951-52 he was director of the Film Society of the University of New Mexico. He expects to make his career in documentary films.

MIGUEL JORRÍN is Professor of Government and Director of the School of Inter-American Affairs at the University of New Mexico.

OLIVER LA FARGE, writer, anthropologist, and long-time Santa Fe resident, is also President of the Association on American Indian Affairs.
